We've Got The Look

We were many in number, 1,506 of us to be exact, and we all had something specific in common . . . we were INDIANS! There was something inside us which we absolutely couldn't hold back . . . our Indian PRIDE. It was something which other schools knew little about. We were in the limelight.

There were many factors which set us apart from the others. Our Marching Indians captured first place at the state fair, a feat which hadn't been accomplished since 1959. Anderson High School recognized students for their scholastic talents. Any student achieving a 3.7 or higher grade point average was eligible for an academic excellence sweater. The new $73,000 gymnasium floor reemphasized that our Wigwam was incomparable. The image for which we were known backed us up . . . we truly had a look all our own.

Student Life

Come, see

There are more activities than you might think.

Summer, bonfire, homecoming, mascot/maiden war dance, academic sweaters, pep sessions, spirit, Whew! and there was more to this list.

Some of these activities were the same as other schools, but Anderson High School was different.

Afterall, who else had a war dance performed before every home basketball game? Who else had our great tradition?

Anderson's student life expressed the excitement of being an involved Indian. There were some pretty unusual things about Anderson which proved . . . that we had a LOOK all our own.

Seniors Denise McCroclin and Brian Smith review the weekend as they gear up for Monday morning classes.

THE GLORY DAYS OF Summer

Making waves and cruising water ways is Mike Miller's way of spending his summer days at the lake.

While working at Jean's Hallmark Store Stephanie Snyder sorts out the variety of cards, one of her most important jobs.

With the big stretch, Steven Birt polishes off just one of the hundreds of cars that came through the A.H.S. band car wash.

Alarm clocks take break

What did the glory days of freedom mean last summer? As in Springsteen's song, they passed by so quickly . . . "in the wink of a young girl's eye." But while summer was here students managed to make the most of it.

Just putting away the books and forgetting the long hard school year was a treat in itself. Shutting off the alarm clocks for three months was excellent! Many students had to catch up on some shur-eye.

The pools were invaded by girls in skimpy bikinis which turned the heads of many guys. Overworked students left books behind and turned out for parties, picnics and concerts . . . Oh what a blast!

For many students it meant summer jobs. That extra money helped with the fun activities. Jobs ranged from dipping ice cream and working fast food joints to mowing lawns. It mattered not the job, it was the pay check that counted.

By the end of the summer, most students were excited to get back into the groove of mingling and classes, not for the sake of hitting the books, but just to compare the awesome summer stories with their friends.

The day after the Bruce Springsteen concert, Robin Broyles tells everyone about "The Glory Summer Days of Summer".

Shout!! Shout it all out . . . Cynthia Spencer, Jenny Sloan, and Holly Myers drum up business to make the AHS band car wash a success.

"Where's the beef?" is what Rhonda Auker asks while she is waiting to complete another one of Wendy's "Old Fashioned" hamburgers.

Buck stops here

As the night of homecoming approached, spirits soared; our enthusiasm had hit a new high. The bonfire at Denny Field Thursday night warmed the spirits of many AHS fans. The war calls from around the bonfire were loud enough to bring rain and put a damper on things if we let them, but nothing was able to bring down our spirits.

The fun began on Thursday with the bonfire and powder-puff football games. The juniors were matched up against the seniors and the freshmen were paired with the sophomores. The juniors, for the third consecutive year captured the big "V." The freshmen defeated the sophomores.

At the traditional homecoming parade, groups/clubs entered the contest. The parade of floats ranging from single mopeds to fancied-up pickups, circled the track before the kick-off. At half time, the suspense was immense. As tensions mounted, the winner was finally announced. The junior class float was awarded the first place prize . . . "Bronco Buckin' Bessie" prevailed.

By half-time, the homecoming festivities highlighted the excitement already built up by the football team's performance on the field. As the excitement mounted even higher, Stephanie Lewis became queen of the festivities. Crowned by last year's queen, Becki Hahn, Stephanie reigned over the remaining festivities, including the Senior-sponsored dance in the Commons Area.

Of course, the best part of the evening was the football teams' victory over the Lafayette Jeff Broncos. Alumni and students alike agreed that Homecoming '86 was, once again, a huge success.

Sworn in by Marie Riggs in the mayor's office, Frank Owens pledges to serve as a responsible Human Rights board member.

Mayor Thomas McMahan congratulates Senior Frank Owens in being selected the youngest member ever to serve on the Human Rights Commission for the city of Anderson.

Reading lengthy reports, investigating reported discriminatory actions by employers and sitting in on hearings on job discrimination are a few of the responsibilities Frank agrees to uphold by signing his name.

We 'look marvelous'

Fans of Saturday Night Live know that "It is better to look good than to feel good" because a debonair Fernando, played by Billy Crystal, said so. Fernando also said, "You look marvelous."

Now was it just coincidence that Senior Frank Owens could imitate that Fernando voice so well, or was it because Frank was part of the Indian tribe that really "looked marvelous"? And, speaking of marvelous, how about the fact that Frank was the youngest person ever appointed to the Human Relations Commission for the city of Anderson. Yes, folks that's real city government business.

As anyone who attended a pep session in the "marvelous" Wigwam heard, "We feel good! Oh we feel so good!" We looked good and we felt good because we had a look all our own. No one could match us and we loved it. It was better to look good than to feel good, but we did both!

On the less serious side, Indians displayed a variety of ways of lookin' good. Whether we downed around, worked, practiced or studied, we really did look "marvelous."

Looking ridiculous has to be the most fun look. Todd Howard, Rob Gilliam, and Ross Ayers assume as cheerleaders at the powder puff football game.

Rising at 4:00 AM to compete at state fair gives Tiffany Janov and Kirri Kreegar that exhausted look.

Looking tan and beautiful, Missy Graybiel sits atop her lifeguard chair at Edgewood Country Club, ever mindful of the swimmers' lives she's guarding.

No time for boredom

"Aw, gee, there's too much to do," declared AHS students who found no time to be bored. Being involved in Young Life, Mayor's City Youth Commission (MCYC), and Students Against Driving Drunk (SADD) kept students busy and gave them the opportunity to learn, grow, contribute and just have some fun.

Nine members and two alternates from each high school served on MCYC to "enhance communication" among the schools and give students the opportunity to learn about city government, according to Senior Frank Owens. Job shadowing, staging a dance for the German Exchange students and exchanging places at school for a day added interest to being on MCYC.

Some of the same students belonged to the approximately 100-member SADD group. Warning teens that drinking and driving don't mix, SADD members also held lip sync contests, pizza parties, and monthly meetings involving all three high schools. "SADD gives kids an alternative," stated sponsor Miss Kitt.

Now, on top of all these activities, many of the same people regularly attended Young Life club on Monday night at one of the Young Lifer's homes. Welcoming any high school student, Young Life livened things up with crazy songs, skits and a message to help make a positive impact on the students' lives. A non-denominational Christian outreach program, Young Life offered exciting weekend trips to Chartwell lodge in Brown County and week-long summer trips to Frontier Ranch in Colorado and Windy Gap in North Carolina. "Besides all the terrific, fun, new things we did in Colorado, I also learned that God was the most important person in my life," stated Junior Amy Boeglin.

So, who has time to be bored?

'Cherish the Night'

Spring was in the air, it was even in the gym. As juniors and seniors and their dates entered "Cherish the Night", they were greeted by a gas-light path leading to a bridge over flower-strewn water. Upon entering a Cinderella-like gate, promgoers stepped into an enchanted evening complete with stars and a gazebo.

Strolling hand in hand or dancing cheek to cheek, couples enjoyed the music of a D.J. and video screen which preserved, on film, memories of the very special night to be used later at reunions.

Highlighting the evening at the stroke of ten, Stephanie Lewis, last year's queen, crowned Christy Hovermale queen and honored Heather Holliday and Amy Behrens as attendants.

Prom was a special occasion for all. "Dressing up and going out for a fancy dinner", said Libby Ginley, "was a very special part."

After the jitters flew away and couples danced the last dance, Anderson's first annual Post-Prom party began. Mr. Chadbourne and Mr. Dickerson flipped pancakes until 4:00 am after which couples fled home, only to gain a few hours sleep before flying to the adventures of King's Island and the rest of the memorable weekend.

Heather Holliday reigns proudly as attendant.

Students lead the way

Who did the student body rely on for pep sessions, convos and a place to go with that special someone when they finally asked them out? Student Council, of course! The council spent many long, gruelling hours planning activities such as pep sessions, convos, and dances. Along with organizing themes and ideas, the council held responsibilities in making the dances a success.

The council was chosen by the student body, who felt these leaders could handle the job.

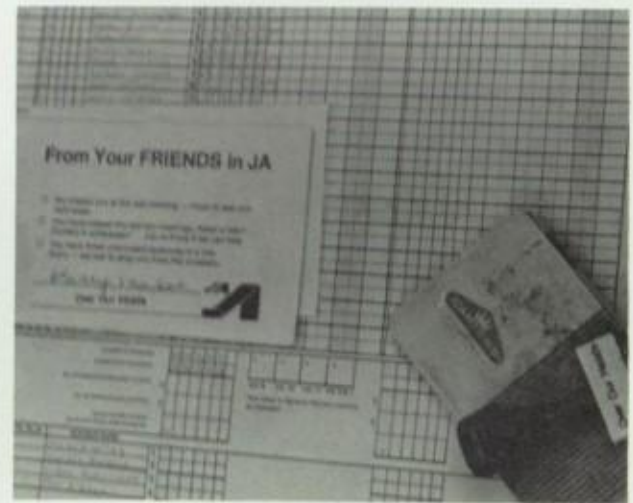

What exactly is JA? This was one of the many questions asked by the student body. Junior Achievement is a Madison County organization to teach high school students about real-life business and the responsibilities that go with it.

Participation, producing, and marketing a product each company chose, exemplified the real business world.

Some of the various companies created included, Radio Broadcasting, Banking, and Sales. Each company shared their profit, yet were responsible for finding buyers, sponsors, dividing profits and organizing sales.

Angie Elliott, a member of the radio company, stated "The company helped me in many ways. I met a lot of important contacts and had on-the-air experience. I had a lot of fun, even though it was hard work."

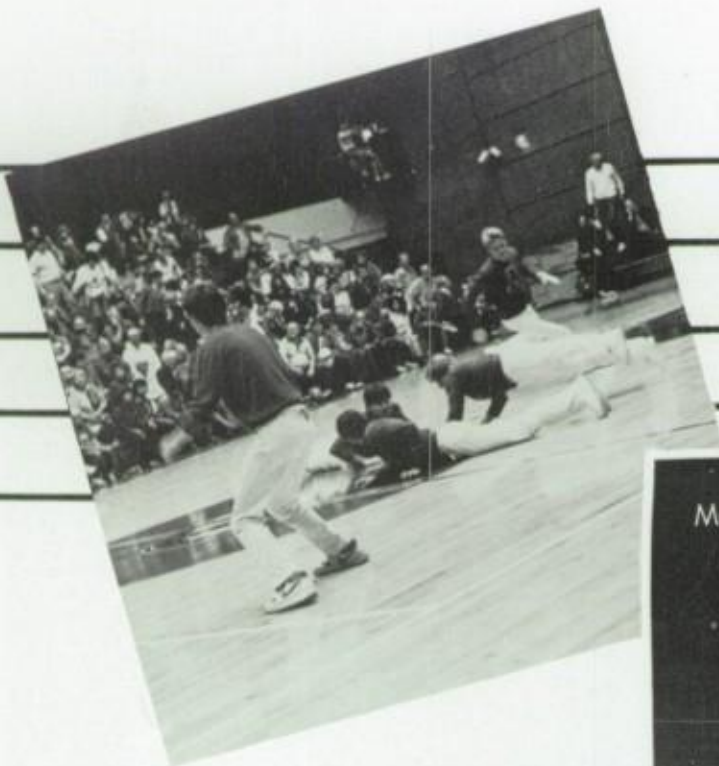

Senior Todd McCord reviews the weeks' sales and monetary intake with his JA advisor before the weekly meeting begins.

Leaders lift AHS pride

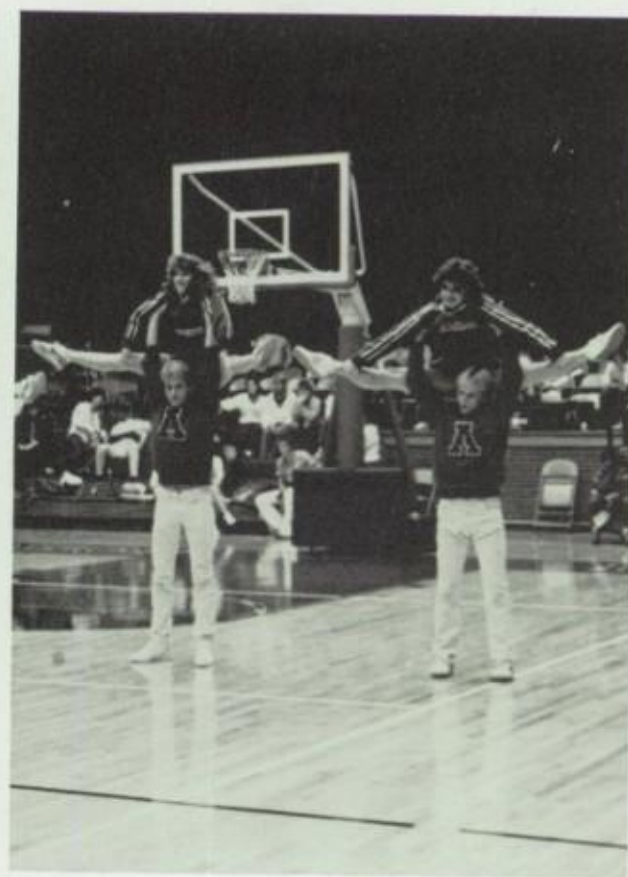

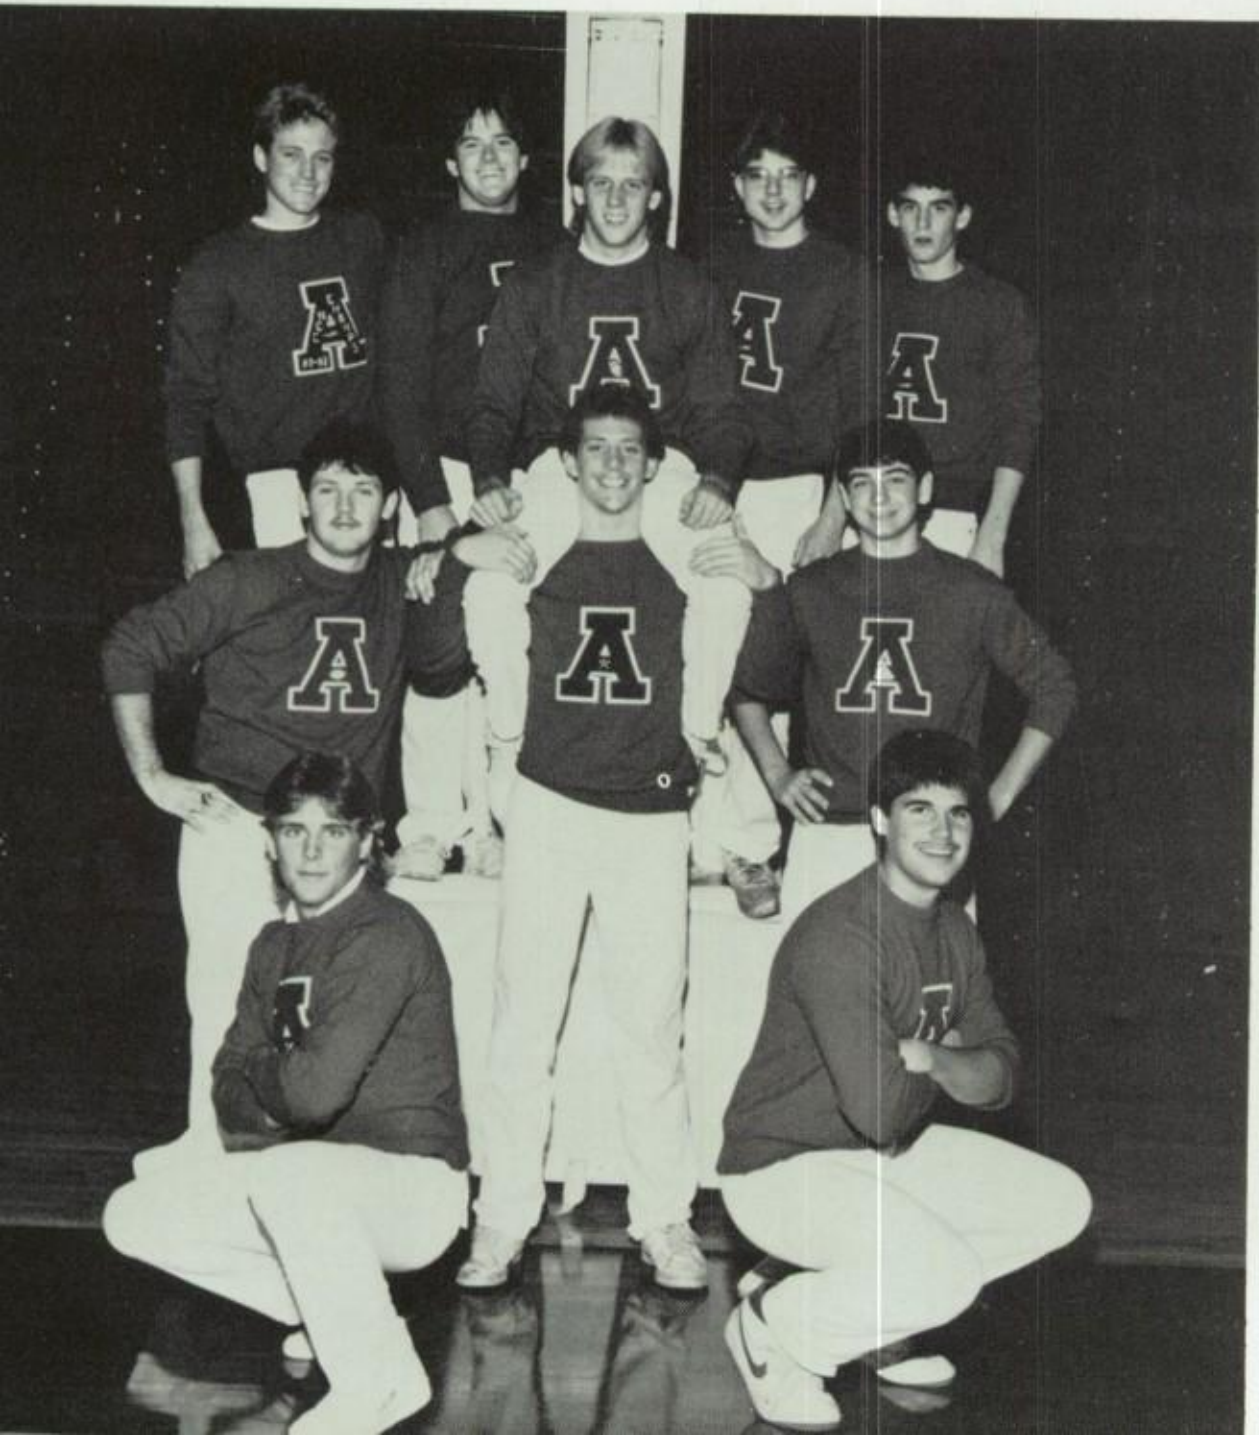

As the Indians defeated their foe and that old familiar "We've got you!" boomed through the Wigwam, the cheerleaders relaxed and reflected on a well done job. The perfection achieved through many long hours of practice succeeded in rousing both the young and old fans, who spurred the team on to victory or accepted their defeat gracefully.

Michelle Kinder summed up the feelings of the cheerleaders with these words, "Cheering means the world to me. I love to represent my school and promote school spirit." After surviving the extremely stressful tryouts, they made worthy representatives, too. Their sponsor Mrs. Jo Funk subjected them to rigorous practice where they learned new cheers and perfected the old ones. With all of their fire and determination, the cheerleaders led the devoted crowds to super spirit levels.

In addition to the perfectly drilled female cheerleaders, AHS sported a few expertly-drilled male cheerleaders. These guys were all members of the A-Club with lively personalities and lots of spirit. After being chosen by the varsity cheerleaders, the guys supported them physically and vocally during the games. They were also responsible for the zany stunts, such as spelling Indians on the floor with their bodies and doing the "surfer." The male cheerleaders had a great time and conveyed that fun into the audience.

Spirit starts with an A

What did that big 'A' on all those sweatshirts stand for? Yes, it was a special group of students open to anyone who had lettered in at least one varsity sport. A-Club sponsored worthwhile activities throughout the school year including holding the ropes at home basketball games and cheering the Indians to victory. Not only did A-Club provide activities for the school, but also for the community. These activities included ringing bells at Christmastime for the Salvation Army and sponsoring a food drive. Sponsored by Mrs. Hadley, A-Club served also to make students proud of their school and themselves "I think it's a good experience to be in A-Club because it's kinda neat being out and doing things for others," stated Junior Mike Farrer.

A very well-known tradition in our school was our awe-inspiring Indian war dance. This years Mascot, Senior Jeff Lane, and Maiden, Senior Michelle McCoy, practiced many long hours to perfect the dance performed to the beat of Jeff Morgan's tom-tom. "It gave me lots of confidence to get up in front of other people," stated Michelle McCoy.

Add up all these A-Club members and Mascot and Maiden and what do you get? . . . that unbeatable Indian spirit.

Junior, Vance Wessar, A-Club member, rings a bell for the Salvation Army during the Christmas holiday season despite the bitterly cold temperatures.

As the saying goes "one ... two ... three strikes you're out in the ole' ball game" Mr. "M's" face says it all.

Sports

Come, see

There are more to sports than you might think.

Volleyball, cross-country, swimming, tennis, golf, softball, baseball . . . there were a total of seventeen varsity sports to participate in or watch.

Some sports were played as a team and others, although part of a team, were individual sports. After all, it took nine people to make up a baseball roster where it took only one person to wrestle.

Long hard hours of practice, sacrificing "things I'd rather do," willingness to push that extra step (even in pain), and dedication were just a few qualifications that AHS athletes possessed.

Indians all enjoyed watching the games but only a few, the athletes, knew the tough demands and pain that went behind the successes of the teams and individuals.

Tough And Rough All Over

Football Team Hits Hard For A Winning Season

Twice a day, everyday, the Indian football team worked this summer. If it was heat or rain they would still have a workout, even if it snowed in July they were working out.

It finally paid off at the end of the season with a nice 5 won 3 loss season and a chance for a sectional championship. This was only the second time that Coach Morgan had had that opportunity.

But unfortunately the team had stiff competition and didn't rise to the occasion as the Indian football team had made it to another playoff but came out on the short end this time.

Coach Morgan summed up his happy season by saying, "The Kids had a lot of pride and heart to go and bust their butts every game."

Working Their Way Up

Frosh. & Reserve Football Prepare For Future Varsity Play

"I'm proud of the way they progressed and the way they improved," stressed freshman football Coach Rick Muir. "They grew to be smart football players and very team oriented."

The season began with a win squeezed between two ties. It was an odd start but the team came on strong in the end. The highlight of the season came when it won its last two games in shut-outs. "It was a fun season and the players should be ready for varsity next year", commented Muir.

The reserve started out their season with a pair of new coaches and a new attitude. Coaches Brian Behrens and Bob Windlan's goals at the start were to learn to play as a team and to correctly execute the plays. The team did all of this and more ending up with a 4-1-1 record. "I am proud of the way the team came together and ended up playing heads up football. It's a privilege to coach at AHS," stated Coach Behrens.

A Smashing Season

Boys' Tennis & Girls' Golf Both Advance In Post-Season Play

The 1985 boys' tennis team had another winning but inconsistent season finishing with a respectable 8-6 record.

Greg Wood was again the backbone of the team at number one singles. Wood also won the North Central Conference singles championship for the second straight year. "I thought Greg would have a great season and he didn't disappoint me," said Coach Roger Whitehead.

Although the record didn't show it, the team had a good year according to Coach Whitehead. "Winning sectional and placing second at N.C.C. were definitely the highs of the season."

Led by four seniors, the girls' golf team rolled to a 6-5 season. The team leader was senior Brigid Cunningham who placed fourth individually in the N.C.C. "Brigid is an excellent golfer and has a vast knowledge of the game. That made her a spark for this year's Indian attack," commented Coach Phil Sullivan.

The most successful performance was in the Sectional where the team placed an impressive second place. The girls rolled on to place fifth in N.C.C., third in the Regional, and finally entered the top 10 in the state with an eighth place in the State. "It was truly an excellent season," said Sullivan.

The girls' varsity volleyball team had another competitive but losing season. The team combined lots of hard work and hustle to keep the outlook positive at all times. The team ended with a 3-18 record and were beaten in the first round of the sectional to end their season.

Offensively the team was led by key spikers Pam Nyberg and Beth O'Bryant. The main servers were Stephanie Goodrick and Sybil Roberts. Defensively the standout blockers were Pam Nyberg and Julie Key.

"Although the record is a little weak, we played some very good games. We brought out the best in all the other teams," said Coach Al Ihnar.

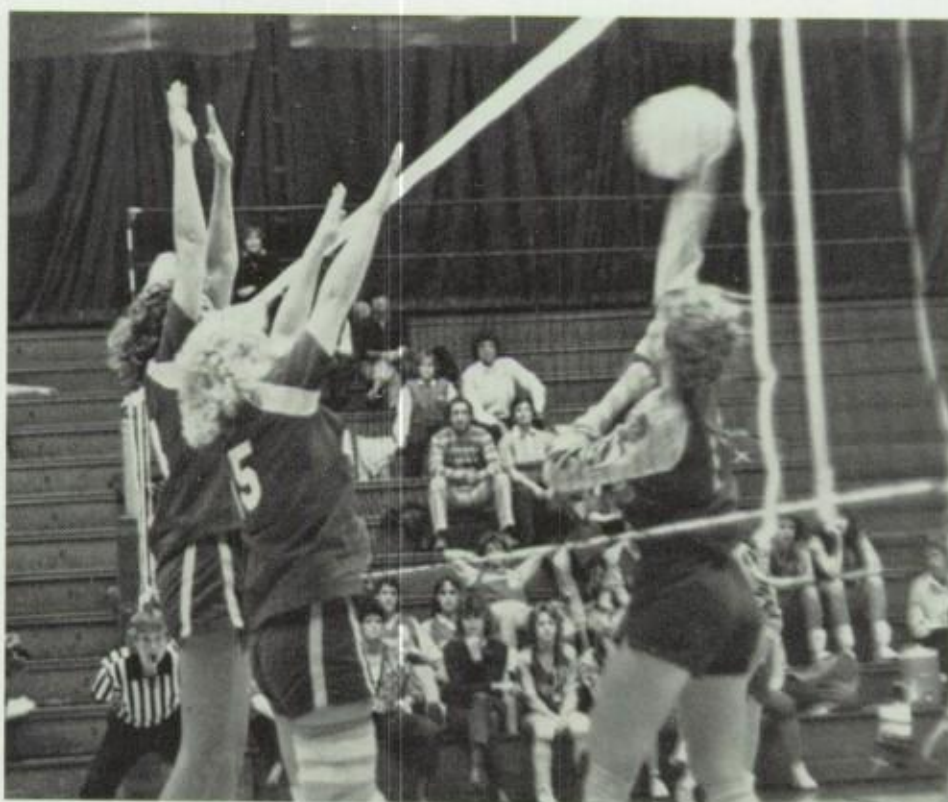

The reserves were led by new Coach Lori Ball. The team improved greatly and ended with a 6-12 record. The high-

Reserve Baseball: Putting On The Squeeze

Indian Sluggers Choke Up Their Opponents

Baseball Montgomery style meant another season of thrills. Unrelenting determination and good coaching helped the Indians to a semi-final finish in sectional. "Even though the Tribe ended the season with an 8-15 record, we were fundamentally a strong ball club," stated Montgomery.

Coach Montgomery commented, "We were technically a strong team, but we just got a few bad breaks." He was right. Senior and team captain Darren Courter was chosen to represent the organization as catcher/dh for the All North Central Conference. Greg Smith was the dominant hitter on the squad with a .407 batting average. Montgomery later stated,

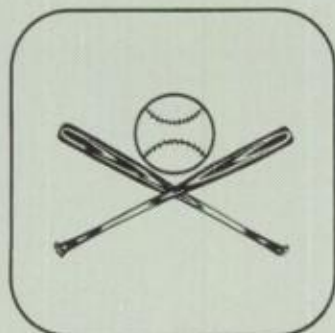

"Our seniors really came through for us when it was needed."

Head Coach Jack Shanklin with Ken Webb coached the reserve team to a 3-7 season. Freshman, Jason Hudson, served as a key factor to their success.

Indian Track Teams Hurdle To Winning Seasons

The boys' season was led by Rick Williams who accumulated the most points in the season. Rick was also a member of the 400m relay team, which set a school record and was just shy of going to state by a drop of the baton at the state trials. Craig Goodwin set school records in the low and high hurdles and placed seventh in the state finals in the high hurdles.

Scott Floyd added to the list of state qualifiers by placing eighth at state in the 100m.

The girls' side was led by senior Alissa Henning who reached one of her milestones by running a sub-five minute mile for the first time in her career. Alissa placed fourth in the mile and third in the 800m run as she went to the state meet for her fourth consecutive year. Alissa also pulled the mile relay team to second place in the sectional, but they failed to get out of regional. Dana Wilkerson also placed second in regional in the 100m and advanced to state.

Survival of the fittest! That's how Scott Floyd and Ricky Williams view the end of every 1-2 victory finish.

Girls' Tennis Team Scores Another Winning Season.

Practice, determination and a winning attitude were again the key ingredients to another successful boys' golf team. Coached by Phil Sullivan, they finished the season with a 14-2 record. To end the fantastic season, they added a fourth place finish at the state. The team was led by senior and captain Jerry Cunningham. "Jerry really came on strong at the end of the season. He had an excellent state tourney and proved to be a very good leader." Rounding out the varsity were John Bachman, Mike Farrer, Mike Proctor, Mar Hahn, and Chris Daoust.

"The highlight of the season wasn't only making it to the state finals, but reaching the second day where the top nine teams played," stated Coach Sullivan.

The AHS girls' tennis team ended their 1985 season with an 8-4 record and a first place finish at sectional. They added a 5th place finish at NCC, while senior standout Mikie Leips won her 4th consecutive NCC individual championship. She was the only girl in NCC history to have accomplished this. "I was proud to coach Mikie these past four years. Her conference championships showed what a steady player she was!"

The close of the tennis season brought to an end Coach Martha Wilson's 11-year reign as head coach. Her outstanding record of 84-32 speaks for itself in showing what type of dedicated coach she was. "I enjoyed every season with the girls and was extremely lucky to have the tremendous players and excellent parent support through the years."

Boys Take Ranking In State While Girls Go Undefeated

Beginning the season slowly with a seasoned team, the Indian boys' cross country team caught fire and picked up many titles. They earned a second place in the North Central Conference, a first in sectional, and a second in regional. This qualified them for semi-state and earned them an eighth place.

The team was led by captains Vance Wessar and Kyle Hobbs. Wessar was NCC individual champion. Rounding out the squad were John Bachman, the only senior, Rob Gilliam, Shayne Shipley, Rick Campbell, Tim Powers, Freddie Stevens, and Rod Michael.

"We really came together at the end of the season and ran well. The season starts at conference and that's when things started falling in place. They did a super job and I'm really proud of them," stated Coach Garry Courter. "I also want to thank Asst. Coach Mr. Johnson; without him I don't know how we would've done!"

Who said there wouldn't be life after Alissa? The girls proved that wrong by running out to a perfect 17-0 season. The team was guided by Captain Michelle McCoy and sophomore standout Jill Miller. Coach Garry Courter said, "The girls ran well all year and did a great job. They really surprised me." Jill Miller ran so well that she qualified for the State meet for the first time.

Shayne Shipley expresses the pain it takes to be a good cross country runner. No Shayne, no gain!

Phenomenal! This is the only word that correctly described the '85 girls' swim team. The team consisted of only fifteen members, this adding a new pressure never felt before. In spite of this your INDIANS bounced back!

The team flew into the season with goals of repeating state and NCC championships. They were led by swimmer JoAnn Emerson and diver

Mary Tierney. Other key swimmers included Kelly Warson, Janet Alexander, Christy Collier and Mindy Layman.

For the first time in years, the team was defeated in a dual meet. They finished with an 8-3 record. The small number of swimmers played a large factor in their defeats. They had to work harder and put more intensity into their practices to make up for this.

The hard work paid off in the end as the teams won both the NCC and Sectional. At State all the girls came through like champions with a third place finish. Individual champions were the 200 m individual medley, which consisted of JoAnn Emerson, Janet Alexander, Mindy Layman, and Kelly Watson.

Tankers Take NCC & Sectional

Advancing To State And Earning A Second Place Finish

Long and tiring practice paid off when the boys placed runner up in the state. This honor was "icing on the cake" of a fantastic season. The dedicated and determined athletes captured many honors North Central Conference, Sectional, and individual state championships.

The swimmers started out strong and never let up till the end. They demolished all opposition in the season with an exception of one. But they came on strong to beat arch-rival Kokomo at NCC and State.

"Our strengths were that we were a complete team and team oriented. Our number one swimmer in each event could compete with anyone in the state. Although we weren't strong in numbers we were strong in overall team spirit and enthusiasm.

Oustanding swimmers included state champions Todd Griner, David Ehle, Joel Eddy, Kevin Smith, and David Farzinger. Other key members were Kevin Rockhill, Mike Hadley, Joey Garron, and John Schnieder. The majority of this team returns so we can expect more great things in the future.

"I think our team was so good because we kept our enthusiasm up all year long and that brought out the best in Coach Alexander. We finally convinced him that we wanted it as much as he does," commented Freshmen John Schnieder. Summoning up the year, Sophomore David Farzinger says "We were awesome. Plain and simple." Well said, Congratulations guys.

Wrestlers Destroy Opponents

By Taking City, County, And Sectional Team Titles

"This year, we had the desire and dedication it takes to be good wrestlers. That really showed when we won the City, County and Sectional," stated Coach Al Ihnat. The Indians did prove to be not only good, but awesome!

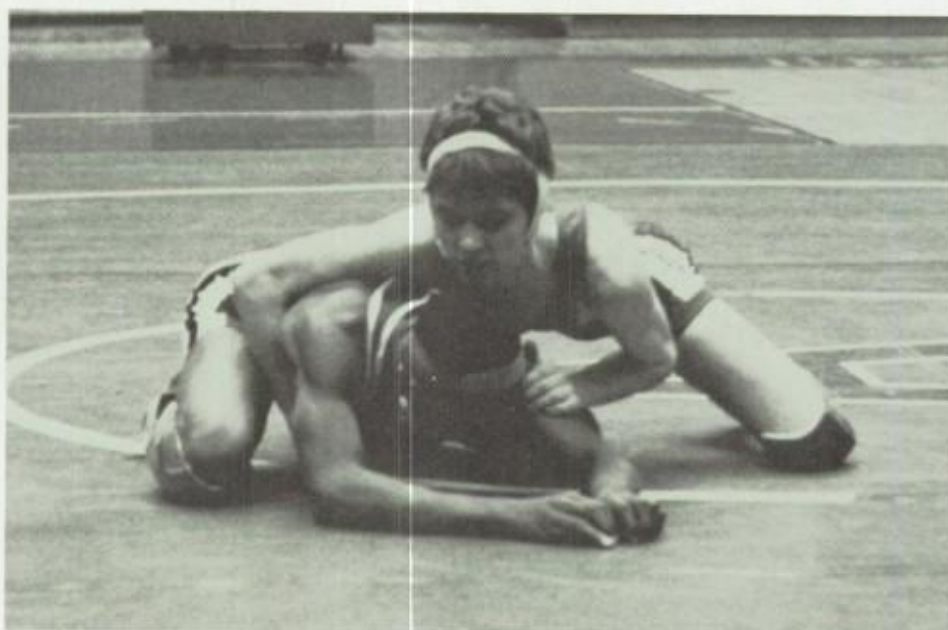

The team returned a great deal of depth including team captains James Horne, Norm Torrey, and Steve Mills. These three proved to be the steadiest and toughest by recording the best records and highest pin counts. But these three didn't do it all. Tim Brown, Pat Gibson, Ron Shohler, and Jeff Sylvester were also vital contributors to the teams' 10 win, 2 loss, 1 tie season.

"This year we really had the talent. We stayed fired up the whole year and that carried us over the few low points," commented junior Ron Stroher. Varsity 132-pounder Pat Gibson, had this to say, "It was a great year. Motivation was a key and Coach Kriebel kept us up all the time."

Next year promises to be just great with all but two varsity wrestlers coming back. Nine juniors head the list of returning lettermen.

The reserves also had an up year. They were coached by Jim Becker and Eric Kriebel. They were led by team captains Jay Atherton, Mark Reagan and Shawn Gibson. "I'm excited about our new wrestlers. Our program is back to where it should be," said Coach Ihnat.

Jay Atherton offers congratulations to fellow teammate Pat Gibson after his win while Jeff Suter warms up for his march in the background.

Cagers Have Rocky Start

But Bounce Back To Win 16 Straight And Make it To Sectional Finals

The Lady Tribe has arrived! The female Indians again proved that the boys aren't the only superstar basketball players at Anderson High School.

The team started slow with two losses but picked up speed to win their next fifteen out of sixteen games. The season ended in heartbreak with a first round Sectional loss to rival Alexandria. Included in these wins were NCC, the Lafayette Invitational and a top ten ranking in the final state pool.

An experienced line-up headed by five junior starters kept the team running and rebounding all year long. These starters were Dana Wilkerson, Davita Anderson, Janine Miles, Teresa Jackson, and Shonnie Wilson. Wilkerson was also named to the second all-star team.

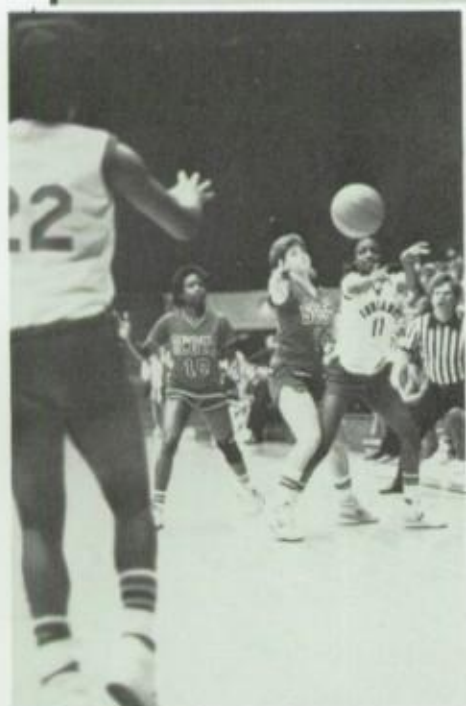

"We were strong in our running and rebounding parts of our game. Our good attitude carried over those early losses," stated guard Davita Anderson. "We've also played together since middle school. We know each others talents and that really helps," added Dana Wilkerson.

With these great attitudes the much wanted state championship should be just around the corner. Good job, ladies!

Davita Anderson gets this pass off just in time to elude her predator.

Boys Enjoy Final Success

While They Struggled Through Their Worst Start In Last 5 Years

The Anderson Indians Varsity Basketball Team was again the class act in boys' basketball this year. They took an 11-9 record into tournament action and came out of nowhere to reach the final game of the state championship against Marion.

An inexperienced group of players and a shaky starting line-up were the causes of the un-Indian-like 2-7 start in the early season. But with the placement of Eric Hathcock and Tim Westerfield into the starting line-up, the team made a 180 degree turn around.

Led by star Anthony Kelley and point guard Anthony Tucker, they won their net nine out of eleven games and destroyed all foes in the tourney until being upended by Marion in the finals.

"I never dreamed we would get this far. It shows what heart and fantastic attitude this team has," said Coach Norm Held.

"At the start of the season, we had problems with our chemistry and finding five consistent starters. But Coach Held found the five and things turned around. We just decided we weren't going to lose any more," states team captain Anthony Tucker.

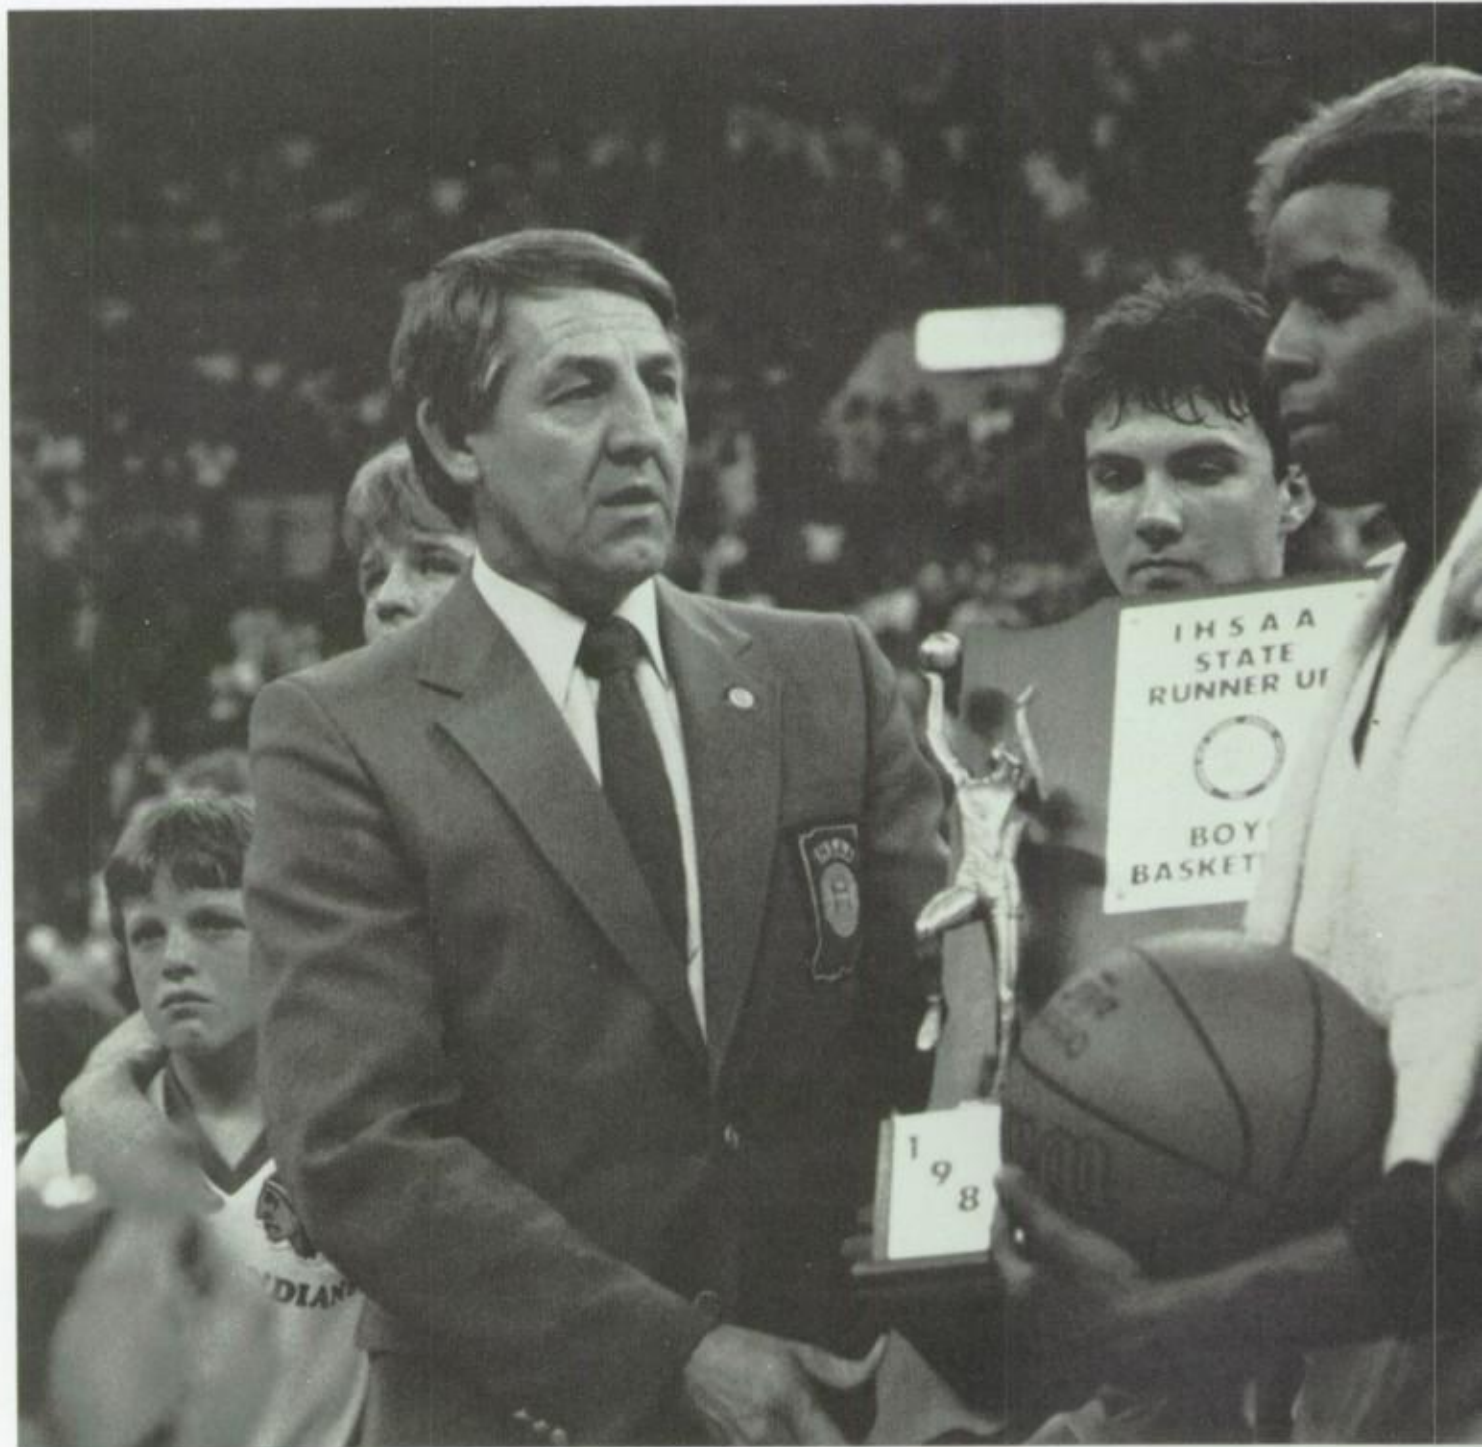

This year proves the old saying true: It's not over till the fat lady sings.

Marcus Townsend stops a driving opponent with amazing speed and quick hands.

Todd Barrett powers the ball up one way or another as his teammates watch and wait.

Reserves Dominate Court

While Freshmen Strive To Carry On Winning Tradition

The Freshmen and Reserve basketball teams both had one common goal: Varsity. But before making varsity, each player had to work, sweat, hustle and learn the plays of freshmen and reserve before going on to varsity. The wait and the deep dedication in these levels of the game were what gave our varsity players the pride it took to be real Anderson Indians.

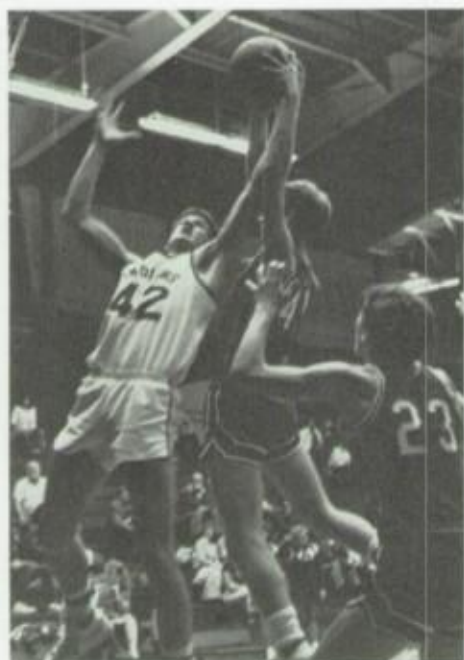

Dan Skeoch reaches in to grab the ball and a sure two points from this Scot.

The reserves this year were coached by new Coach Dick Maynard. He took over in January and guided the team to a 12 win and 8 loss season. They were led by Eric Yeskie, Kevin Kerns, and Rico Morgan in the scoring department. Rebounding and defensively they were led by Dan Skeoch, Chad Berryman, and Troy Goode. The freshmen were guided by new head Coach Steve Douglass. "I really enjoyed being part of the basketball program again at Anderson." The team was led by point guard Artie Pepela, Dan Skeoch, Chuck Lasary and Craig Perry. They finished their season with a respectable 13-4 record.

People

Come, see

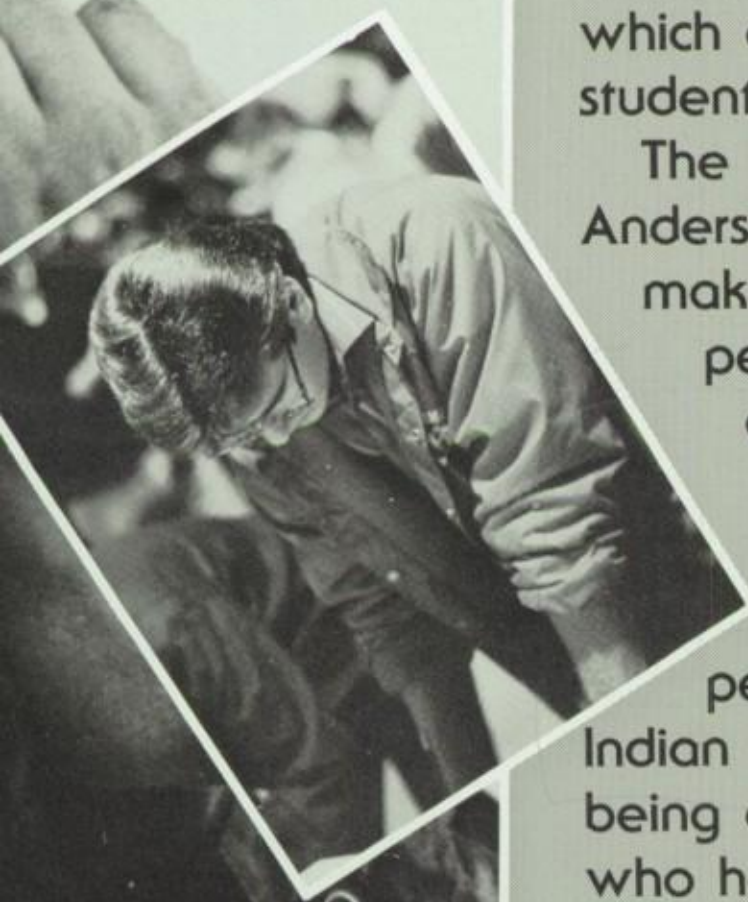

There's more to people than you might think.

Studious, friendly, carefree, fun-loving . . . these were just a few adjectives which could be used to describe the students of AHS.

The uncommon tradition and spirit of Anderson needed one common thing to make it work: people. Some 1500 people, teachers, students, cooks, custodians, administrators, and aides made up AHS. Having the number of students we had meant a vast variety of folks peopled the halls. What each Indian had in common was pride in being an Indian. Like the many Indians who had roamed the halls through the years, we had a tradition to uphold and we did.

People on our campus were as different as night and day, but they proved that we Indians truly had a look all our own.

Special Spaniard Sets Sail

Years before the eldest student at A.H.S. was even born, Mrs. Martha Wilson brightened the halls and walls of our school, along with the students. After 20 years of reaching here, she exited our building but not our hearts, for the last time.

During her two decades here, Mrs. Wilson assumed the leadership of Spanish Club and Spanish Honor Society and sponsored the classes of 1970, 1973, 1978, and 1985. She also devoted her time to coaching girls' tennis for 11 years.

While at A.H.S., she enjoyed the "students and the feeling of closeness and friendship among the faculty," both of which she would miss terribly. She and her husband planned to travel the country and visit their children after her retirement.

The students and faculty said a final "ADIOS" to a great teacher and friend who will be sorely missed.

Juan Ortiz of Columbia relies on Mrs. Wilson to be both a teacher and interpreter for him and his classmates (a job she accepts with ease).

Secret Loves Drive Faculty

Our teachers were considered fanatics about schoolwork, but did you ever think they were outside of school? Nearly every teacher at Anderson turned out to be a compulsive collector. Whether they wanted to remember certain events through their collections or to just occupy their leisure time, these teachers were absolutely mad about their collections.

The different sets ranged from miniature dolls to life size cars. The mild-mannered maniacs, such as Mrs. Hadley, Mrs. Lowry, and Mrs. Plough, amassed sets of charms, thimbles, dolls, and animal figurines. Mr. Longnaker and Mrs. Wright collected the traditional coin and stamp books, while Mrs. Slattery enjoyed her book and butterfly collections. A new arrival at A.H.S., Mr. Vermillion accumulated Chicago Cub's memorabilia, political buttons, pipes, and chess sets. These teachers relaxed after a hectic day with their favorite pastime, collecting.

For many of the faculty members, their collections reflected their lives. The Nicholson household was filled with mementoes from their exotic trips. Mrs. Bridges also gathered objects to commemorate their trips. Mr. DeSalle was by far the most compulsive of them all. He owned over 3,000 toy cars, which he sold all over America, along with several real ones. In some cases, these maniacal teachers' lives revolved around their collections.

After a madcap day at the A.H.S. zoo, our faculty relished the opportunity to relax and enjoy their collections. Both the mild-mannered and the maniacal collectors shared a deep love for their favorite pastime.

Dr. and Mrs. Nicholson collect art from all over the world and proudly display a few pieces of their Chinese and Indian arts.

Mr. Case shows off his good taste in wines. With racks of old and new, domestic and imported, red and white, you can take your pick.

A Glance Back

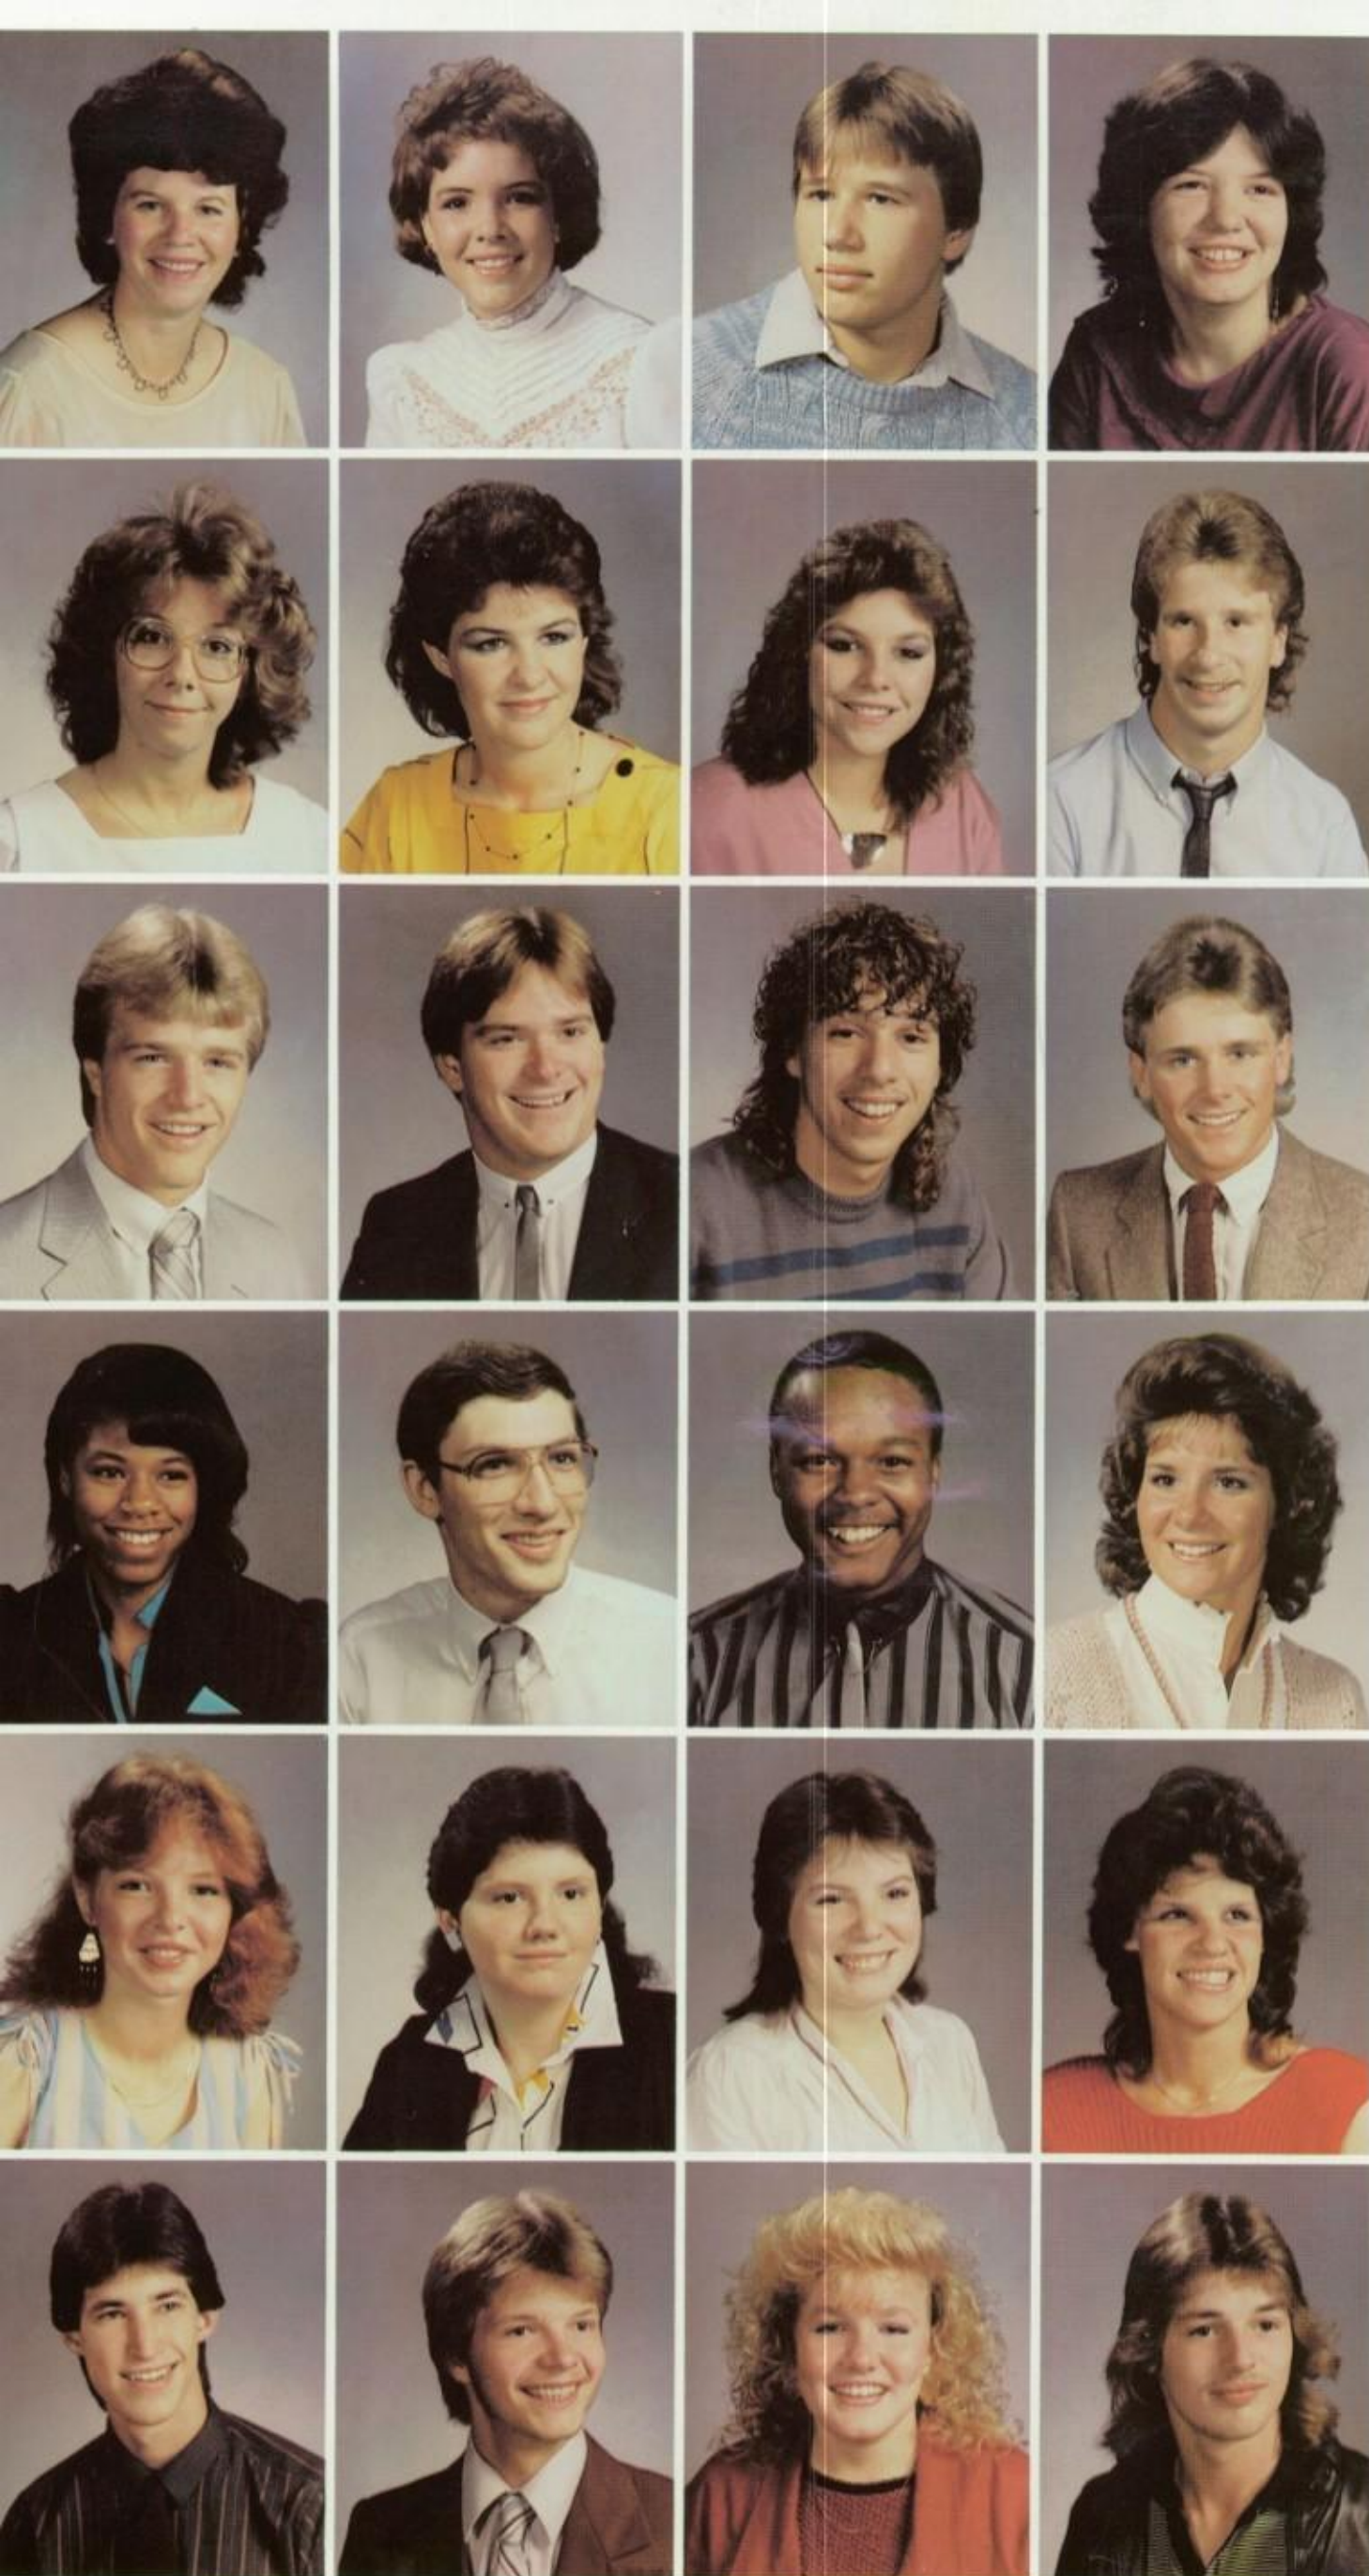

One Last trip across the shining indian. A last glance at the smiling faces we have lived with for more than four years.

The day has arrived, June 2, 1986, Graduation.

SATS, finals, government. From day one at AHS we all looked forward to the day we finally became SENIORS! Along with all the privileges, students found that becoming a senior meant a great deal of work. Paperwork, government projects, and jobs. They all consumed a large percent of seniors' time.

Busy or not, Seniors found entertainment in many forms. Letting loose and the all time favorite — those memorable senior Parties.

As the year came to a close, friends bid fond farewells, shed a few tears and began worrying what to do next.

Shining Bright

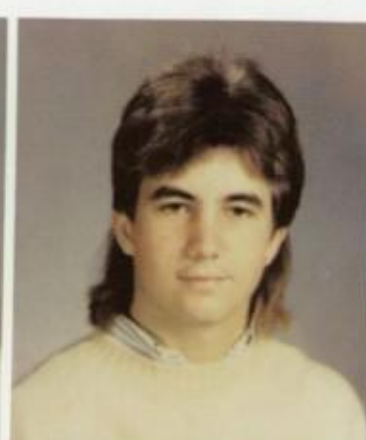

A face shining bright. After four years of dedication, hard work and a lot of sweat, Senior Lori Bodkins reigned as Head Indianette.

As a freshmen, Lori tried out and began her climb up the ladder. After listening to other officers and taking a back seat to the upperclassmen, Lori looked forward to her days as an upperclassmen.

As her junior year rolled around, Lori anxiously awaited voting from other band members to decide who would be Head Indianette. As 7:00 p.m. rolled around and the band banquet arrived, Lori was announced Head Indianette for the 1985-1986 year.

After a long summer Lori helped the band to place first in the Indiana State Fair.

The 10,000 crystals we strung for the prom centerpiece.

The hours spent on the winning class float three consecutive years.

Senior week and the parties that went with it.

Mrs. Slattery and Mr. Hilligoss' patience which we appreciated.

Working coat check for prom and missing the game.

The homecoming dances we went to as frosh and hate to look back upon.

The final count down to senior week and the dumb things that went with it.

Thanks to all the teachers, parents, friends, and relatives who had to endure the long hours of antics and restlessness that go along with being a senior.

College Days

I.U., Purdue, Our of stare? Many Seniors faced stress concerning not only their classes, but what to do with the rest of their lives.

After the task of taking the SAT was complete, students awaited the arrival of brochures that would help them decide which college would open the door for them.

Past the initial shock of the cost, students began the search for funds. Scholarships, savings and parents became an important asset for all of the college bound students.

As seniors began their search for a look all their own, they worried, studied, and added a dash of fun.

A New Face

New Kid on the Block? No, new to the country! Christian Albrecht came to Anderson from Oldenburg, Germany. Living with Senior, Todd McCord and his family, Christian found life in America not too far fetched from that in Germany.

Christian's social life included loud music and his 'gang.' With Seniors Todd McCord, Mark Hutchins, Mike Hoover, and Tony Campbell, he found entertainment in movies, cruising, and music.

Christian decided much of our music was different, preferring the music of his native country. Although he preferred German groups to American, he liked the one and only sounds of our own Bruce "Born in the U.S.A." Springsteen.

Gaining Experience

State politics at Anderson High? Not exactly, yet eight seniors got a taste of how government actually works this past summer at Indiana University.

From June 16 to the 23rd, the eight chosen were separated into Nationalists and Federalists and were able to experience an entire campaign season within a week.

A pep rally was held between the two parties. Each developed their own platforms, specific campaigns, made buttons, and wrote speeches.

After reenactments of House and Senate proceedings, a four hour session of speeches was held to hear the candidates.

After elections were concluded, the elected officials took their 'offices' and proceeded with business as normal. Business included such things as issuing paychecks, court proceedings and fictional crimes.

With counselors on watch, Reps kept their noses to the grind, occasionally finding time for such antics as sneaking off to find ice cream and other fast food.

With all the hard work, antics and learning, participants found time to get to know kids from around the state.

"The best thing was meeting all the different people and seeing how our government works," said John Wooten.

I COULD HAVE DIED WHEN . . .

Darren McVey bit me on the ear with his brothers' fake dracula teeth and I had to get a tetrus shot just to be safe.

I hit a homerun at a baseball game. I thought I was cool and then I fell over second base and sprained my ankle.

I got in the shower during gym class and I slipped and fell on a bar of soap and broke my leg in four places.

My math teacher was trying to kill a bee on the window and it came toward me and stung me on the back of my neck.

I COULD HAVE DIED WHEN . . .

During my family living class we were having a test and the cutest guy in the class kept whispering something to me. I thought he was giving me the answers to the test, but he was really saying, "XYZPDQ."

The administrator for the junior class walked by when I was getting books out of my locker and saw a playgirl picture hanging inside. He gave me a Saturday for it.

On the first day of my freshman year I went to my English class for 25 minutes; and, when they passed out books, I felt like a first grader.

Someone on the other team after the last football game threw a mud ball and hit me in the mouth and chipped my tooth.

wore my new Halloween costume over to my friend Kelly's house to show her how it looked and when I knocked on the door I realized I was at the wrong house.

I went out to eat at McDonalds and I ordered a Whopper with cheese and the man looked at me and gave me the dirtiest look.

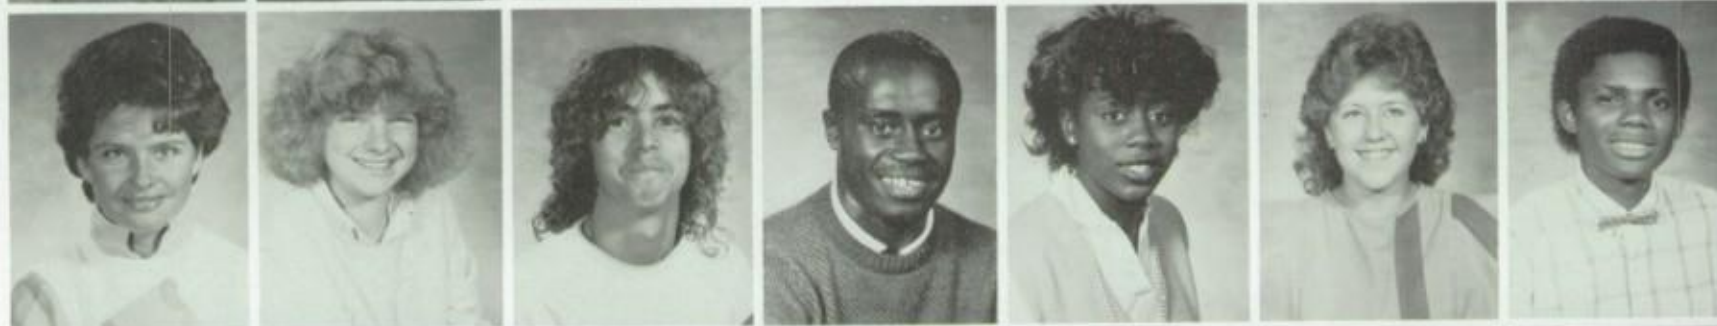

I uncrossed my legs from under a desk in German and I got gum stuck all over my new pants and I had to wear them around all day.

I was posing on stage for a modeling show at the mall and the heel of my shoe broke off and I fell down.

I COULD HAVE DIED WHEN . . .

I was sitting in chemistry class first hour and I thought I was going to be clever by cheating off a test but when I turned around my teacher was staring at me.

I was running across the football field to welcome the other team and I fell on my face in front of all those people.

I went out on a date and while sitting in the booth in the restaurant, I dribbled ice-cream all over my new shirt and he had to tell me.

I was driving in the drive ed. car during class and was very slick out and was hit from behind at yield sign.

Not straining the brain but straining the eyes instead seems to be the issue as John Richardson tries to copy off of his neighbor Marsie Young during an in-class assignment in chemistry.

I COULD HAVE DIED WHEN . . .

I was on lunch and I was sitting in the cafeteria and I went to throw milk in the trash and I almost hit Mrs. Hodson in the head.

Roger Wilkerson came to school all dressed up but when he pulled his pants legs up he had on different color socks.

My white football jersey was untucked at the Marion game and it looked like my pants fell down to my knees.

I was eating lunch with my sister at McDonalds and my nose started to bleed real bad and it was all over the floor.

I asked some guy to sign my yearbook for me and he just sat there for awhile. I asked him what was the matter and he couldn't remember my name.

I came to school with my shirt on backward and the tag was hanging out the front of the shirt and I didn't find out until third hour.

I was driving around with some girl on a date and we were on our way to the movies when we ran out of gas on the highway.

I COULD HAVE DIED WHEN

I tripped over the step outside the school and my mini-skirt ripped all the way up the front and I didn't have any shorts on underneath.

I was walking along the road and saw what appeared to be a stick, but when I stepped on it and slid 3 feet I realized it was dog ".*@#?.

I got stung by a bee on the lip during lunch and my lip swelled 3-times the size of normal and I had to get my picture taken.

I was getting out of the car at a band contest and I stepped in a mud puddle that was knee deep and I had on my uniform for performance.

Hi Pazi

Mr. Young really should make you go mad as you find drinks of the evidence like Mr. Boyle and yourself but what the hell have a good time

"Excuse me, teacher, may I go to the bathroom?"
Did you ever wonder what really went on in the bathrooms of AHS?

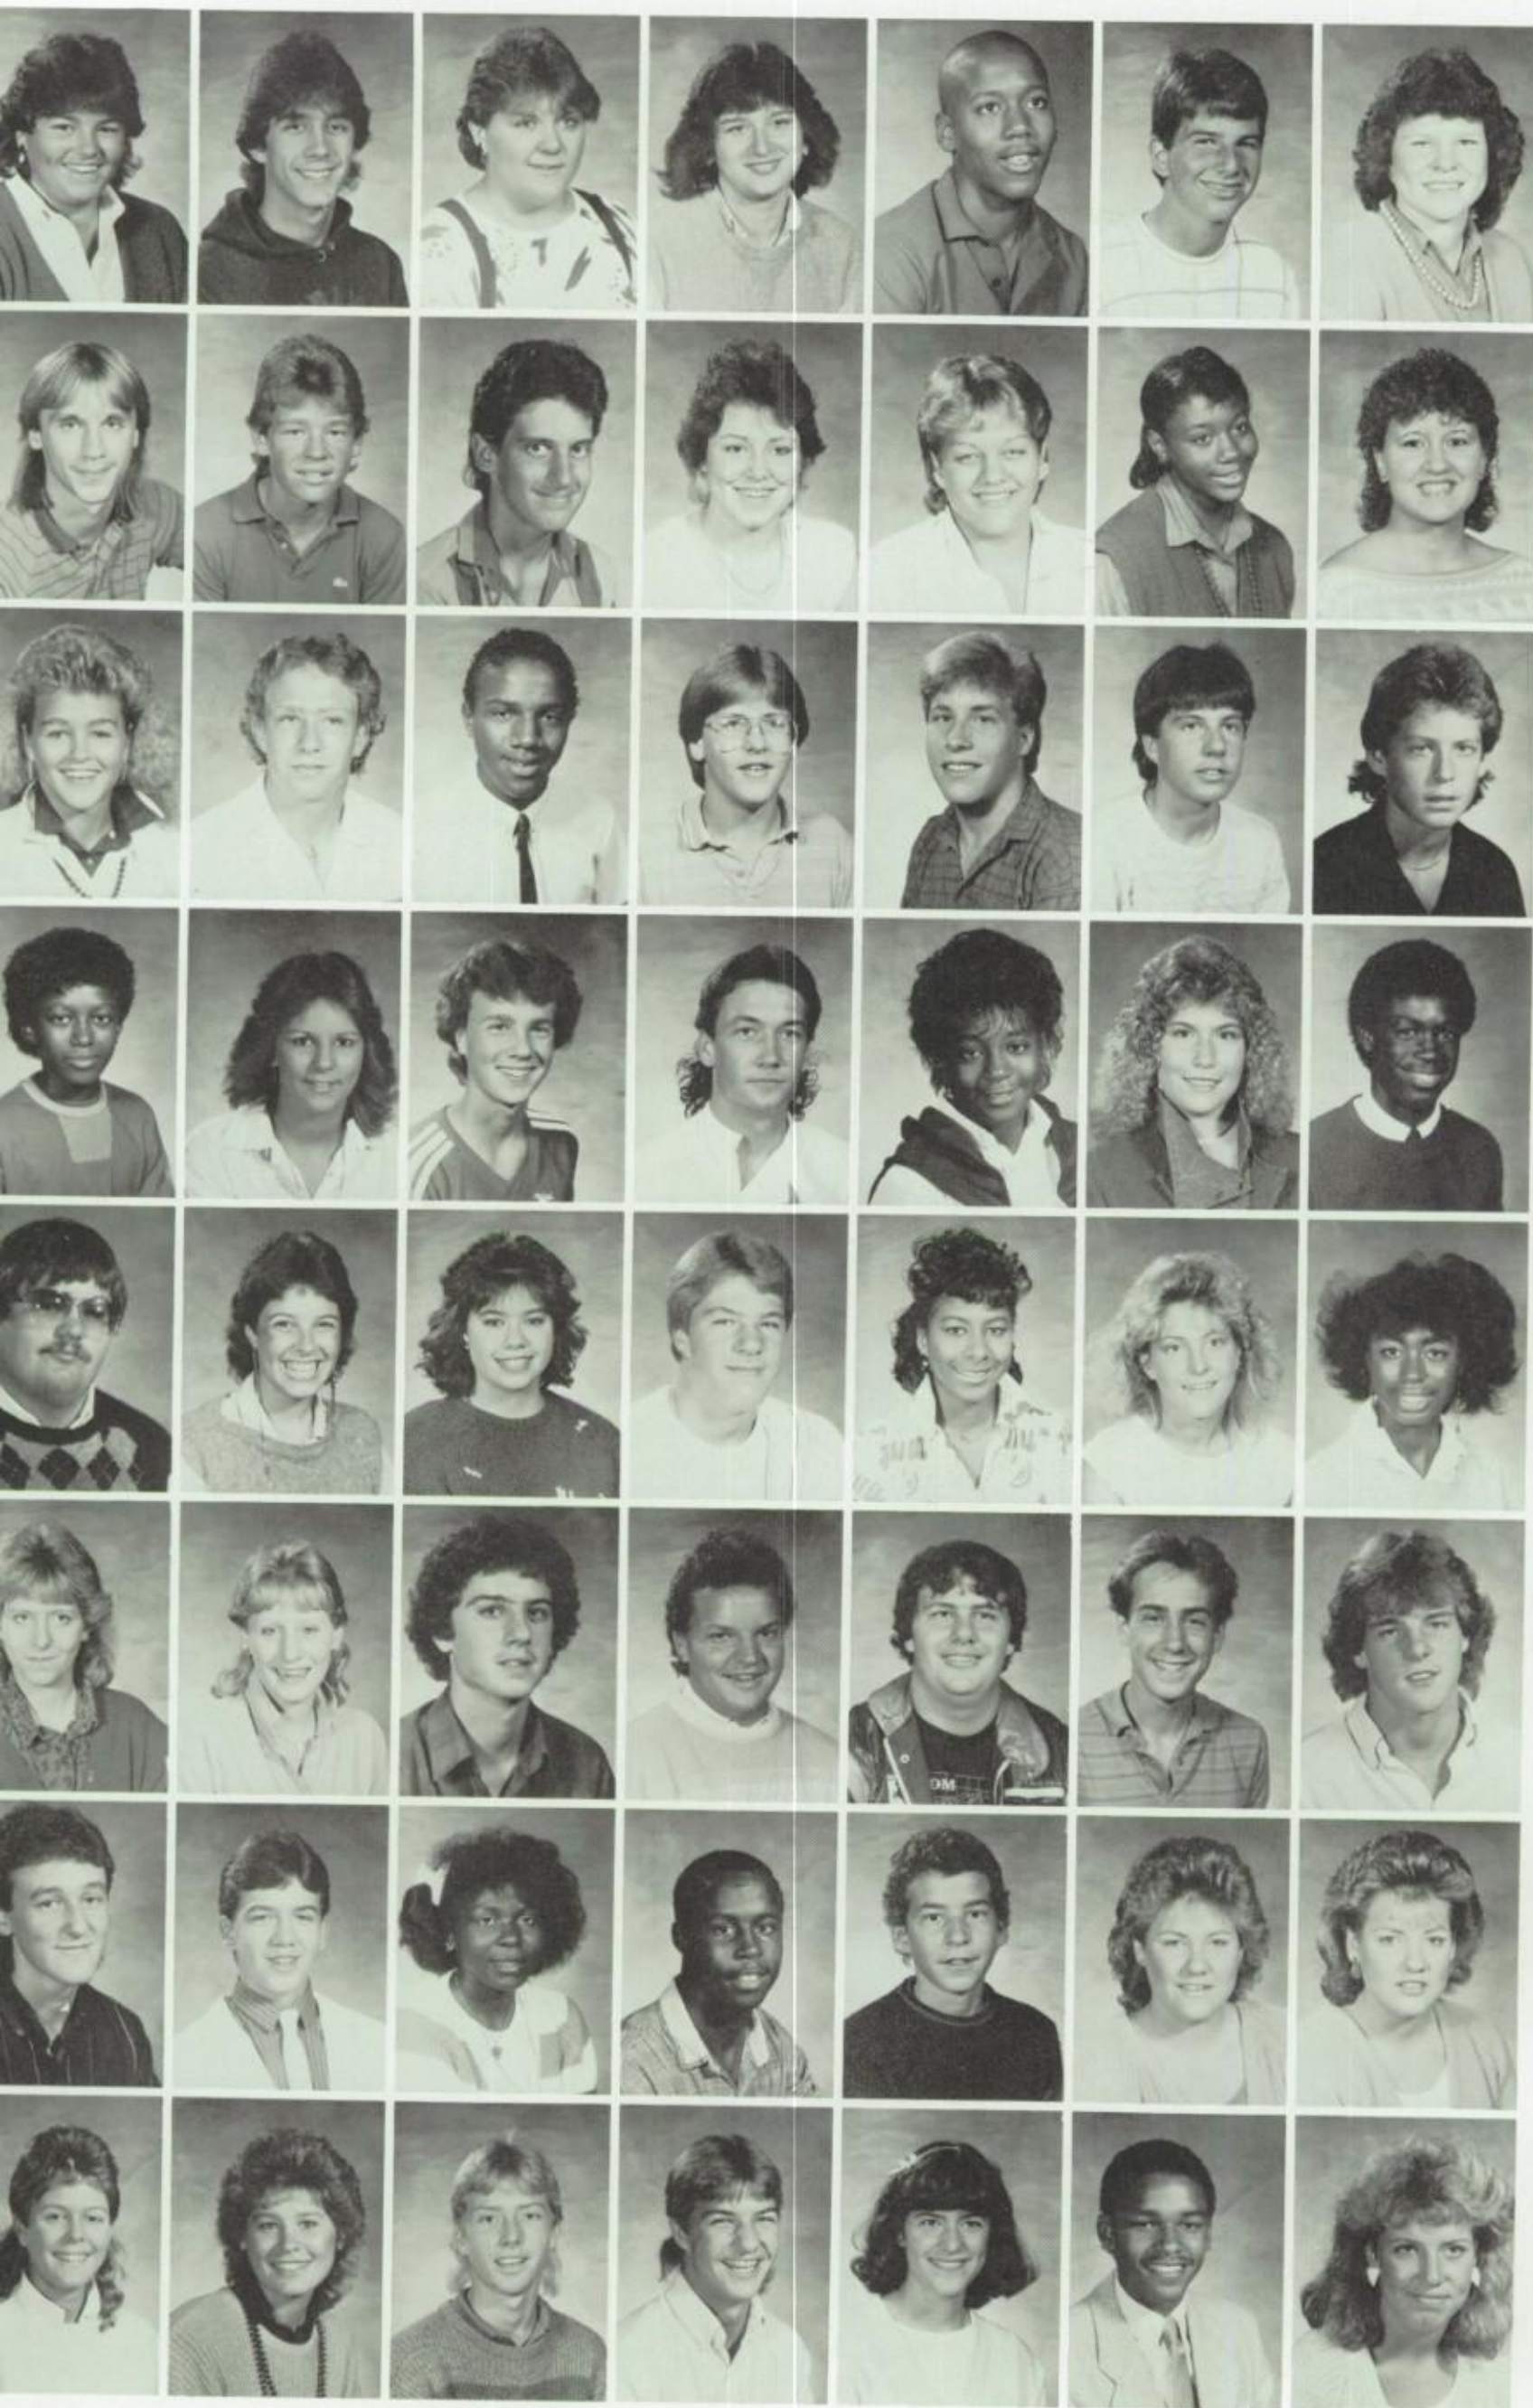

Many students opted to not use the school's facilities and wait instead until they got home. There were others, though, who used the restroom as a social meeting place, yet others who used the restroom to freshen up.

Much of the gossip originated in our restrooms. Subjects ranging from the latest dating updates to party-talk could be heard.

Smokers found the restrooms a convenient place to 'light-up' during school hours since the "no smoking on school grounds" rule took effect.

With all these possibilities, one thing remains unknown . . . why do they call it a restroom?

Stuffing It In, Filling It Up To The Brim — Slam

Lockers, as any high school student well knew, were a definite necessity. Although the appearance on the outside may have been identical to rows of other lockers throughout the school, the lockers inside reflected the owner's personality.

Decorating lockers was a choice made by many students (2 out of every 3); it broke the monotony while adding a touch of class. Decorations ranged from very simple to bizarre to elaborate. Collections of moldy pepsi cans, Budweiser wrapping paper plastered about the inside, and teen rock idols were just a few ways students decorated.

One sophomore commented, "This guy's locker, a couple down from mine, was crude . . . he covered the inside with pictures of nude women."

Some students preferred pairing up with friends and sharing lockers. There were those who even tripled and quadrupled up to be with friends.

Whatever the decision was, one thing stood certain . . . each locker had a look all its own.

Ugh, jeash, what a mess! As is plain to see, each locker is easily individualized to suit the life-style and reflect the personality of the student.

What Blows Up Must Always Pop!!

It took the popping of one bubble to ruin the whole day. What began as the sweetest, chewiest sensation at the touch of a finger could turn into a sticky monster which clung to eyebrows and (ugh) hair. It didn't matter what brand of gum was chewed, it always fulfilled its purpose, whether it was to relieve boredom, freshen breath or to just drive a teacher crazy. "I chewed gum every day at lunch because I was always on a diet, and gum had less calories than a real lunch," said Michelle Suchocki, senior. Michelle wasn't alone in the crowd. Forty percent of the students surveyed rated their intake level as 'addict' (overall 9 pieces per week). The other 40%, chose 'casual' (0-5), with remaining 20% 'intense' (6-10).

Junior Stacy Takacs practices her expertise bubble-blowing abilities while she takes a moment out of her time-consuming studies.

Looking Around

Entertainment

Rock Hudson, veteran film star died following his long bout with AIDS.

Sylvester Stallone appeared in his movies "Rocky IV" and "Rambo: First Blood Part Two."

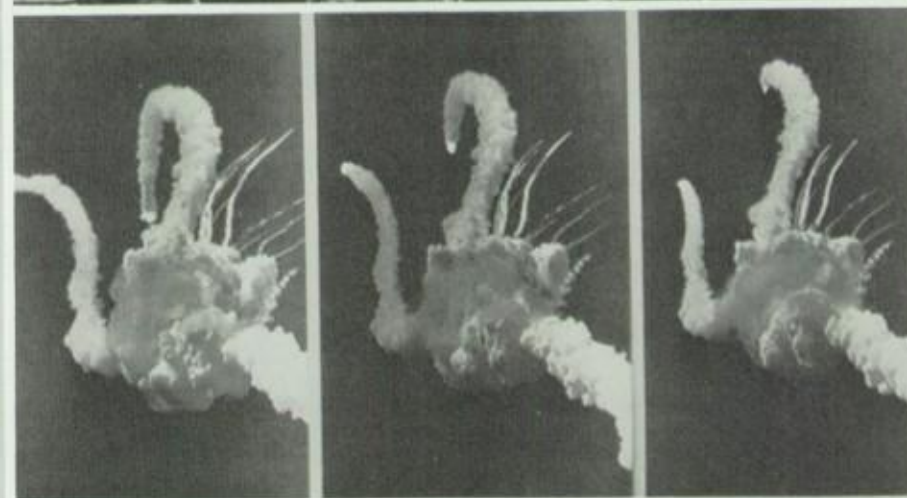

The Bears shuffled to a super bowl victory while Pete 'Rose' to the occasion by smashing Cobb's all-time hit record. Lady Di and her Prince visited. President Reagan went away to the peace talks, but Congress and the Gramm-Rudman Amendment wanted to cut the President's Star Wars. Tylenol terminated the manufacture of capsules, while Aids remodeled kissing on screen. Rambo battled for the POW's and Ryan White battled to get back into school. Hoosiers finally decided not to 'Wander Indiana' in favor of going 'Back Home Again.'

End of deans brings choas?

The 1985-86 school year brought a lot of important changes to A.H.S. The reign of terror instituted by the infamous deans was ended by the school board. While all of Madison County shuffled administrators, we managed to shuffle in three new vice-principals to replace the traditional offices of the deans.

Those who were tardy for their first day of school found themselves wondering where to go for help. Mrs. Darlene Westerfield, former principal at Robinson Elementary, was in charge of all the Juniors and the Seniors whose names were between G & M when problems arose. Likewise, Mr. Richard Worden, former Science Dept. head, got the Sophomores and Seniors N-Z, and Mr. Richard Dickerson received the Freshman and Seniors A-F. The vice-principals concentrated on attendance, absentees, and disciplinary problems with the students.

In the meantime, up in the "big office" Mr. Horace Chadbourne's duties continued as usual. He supervised the new system expertly and kept the faculty in line. He made sure the transition came easily and efficiently.

Mr. Chadbourne pauses from his very important work to gleem for the cameras. Part of his duties include signing official reports and papers.

As part of her new duties as Assistant principal, Mrs. Darlene Westerfield checks in students who are tardy.

Mr. Dickerson poses in front of a handsome wood carving of an Indian, a product of his hobby of carving figures.

"This new job is a heck of a lot more confusing than good old science," thinks Mr. Worden as he examines a pass.

Leaders supervise changes

With all the hectic changes in the administrative staff this year, the school leaders got a helping hand from the Anderson Community School System Administration. The ACS was led by the two year veteran Superintendent Dr. Thomas Neat. His assistants Dr. William O'Neal and Mr. Robert Brooks (formerly personnel and transportation director) dealt with secondary education and elementary education. Together, the trio handled all the problems that arose within the school system.

The School Board met once a month to discuss and vote on important issues, such as school curriculum. The entire board dealt with the past schedule changes and the more recent interschool administrative changes.

Workers earn thanks

The students at Anderson High many times took for granted the jobs of our cooks and custodians. They didn't notice the shining floors and hot meals. These loyal workers anxiously awaited recognition, and this was it.

The custodians had a dirty job, "but somebody had to do it." They swept and cleaned the floors after each mad-capped day, polished the desks and lockers, changed lightbulbs to brighten our days, and emptied the trash (a chore hated by teenagers everywhere). Cleaning up after 1500 plus kids wasn't an easy task, but when did that fact ever affect the appearance of the school?

Everyone had heard the old jokes about "the deadly cafeteria food", but our magnificent cooks took them in stride. They reported for work every morning by 7:30 to serve breakfast to those who didn't eat at home. By 11:08 lunch was steaming and awaiting the greedy mouths of the student body. The ever-popular taco salad and the always delicious spaghetti were favorites of most. The next time you heard cafeteria jokes, you tried to remember no one had ever really died from eating the school's food.

The long awaited "thank you" they deserved was always implied but never spoken; today it was spoken — THANK YOU!

Who says smoking is bad for your health? Chief Holloway and his owner Loren don't believe the surgeon general knows all.

These wonderfully spirited cooks show their loyalty to the "old red and green" on "Nerd Day" by donning the classic polyester and taped glasses.

Part of Luella Hayes job as custodian is to sweep the floors after the students finish cleaning out their lockers.

Val Maxwell scrapes out the fryer where the famous french fries are created.

Clubs and Classes

Come, see

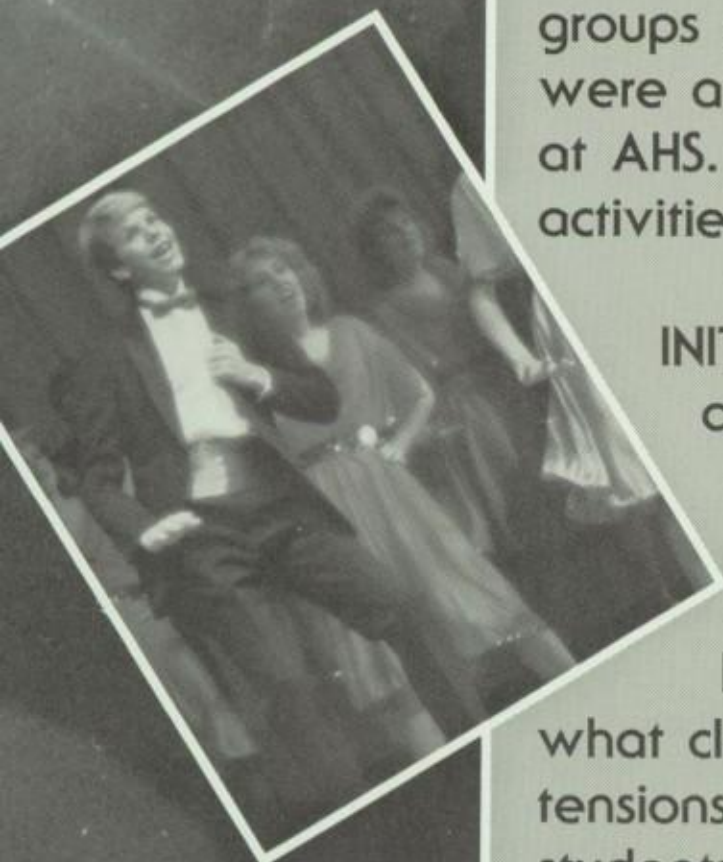

There are more to clubs and classes than you think.

French, German, Latin, Social Studies, Math, English . . . what did these groups all have in common? They each were an official club/organization here at AHS. They held regular meetings and activities throughout the year. Activities such as the unmentionable INITIATIONS of some clubs were an annual event. Other typical events were pizza parties, Christmas parties, and even an occasional field trip.

Extracurricular activities were what clubs were all about. Easing tensions and acting crazy helped students let go and forget (or try to anyway!) about school for just a little while.

Since no two clubs were like the next they each boasted the idea we've got a look all our own.

Honoring "Little Chiefs"

National Honor Society began its 1985-86 school year with forty-two members and a lot of enthusiasm. Honor Society's rather large undertaking for this year began with an idea from Assistant Principal Richard Dickerson and the initiative taken by sponsor Susan Mullarkey. This project was the sponsorship of a school-wide incentive program for students who raised their grade point averages from the first six weeks of the second semester to the second six weeks by any amount and did not fail any classes. These students were invited to an in-school party during the afternoon on May 21. The party rocked from the music of a disc jockey in addition to a lot of pizza, pop, door prizes, and other surprises. Honor Society's goal to help the student body and the school was achieved by President Katie Wantz, Vice President Pat McKinney, and Secretary JoAnn Emerson.

Little Chief started off with a boom this year. Advisor and incentive giver Toni Shoemaker headed the staff, with Angie Elliott serving as dedicated Editor-in-chief. Little Chief, the literary magazine, was composed by students. Any student could enter writings, but they had to pass through the editorial board before they were published.

Little Chief consisted of poems, essays, short stories and illustrations by students in Mrs. Shoemaker's fifth hour Creative Writing Class.

It Is Your Business

Office work was the second largest employment area in America. To help meet this demand, the Business Education Department, under the direction of Mr. Wendell Hilligoss, taught students the vital secretarial and business skills needed to become efficient instruments in the modern work force.

To gain background and initial insight into today's economic environment and areas of law, General Business and Business Law were recommended. Business and English acquainted students with effective writing and mechanical skills, while Business Math familiarized them with every math computations. Knowledge of the entire bookkeeping process was provided in Accounting. These classes furnished the "abilities needed to be prepared, educated, and ready to move forward," Mr. Hilligoss commented.

Such classes as Keyboarding, Shorthand, Clerical Office Practice, and Record Keeping, prepared students to move into the many secretarial positions available. They also served to promote good organization, neatness, and accuracy in the students' work.

Math Students Compute

The question had been asked a million times before — "What is your favorite class"? Rarely had the answer "math" been uttered in response. Most students dreaded taking Algebra, Geometry, Calculus and the many, many other math courses offered to them, but, as everyone knew, at least 2 math credits were required to graduate from Anderson. The teachers tried to achieve a relaxed atmosphere in their rooms by giving one-on-one assistance to those who needed it, or just cracking a joke to ease the mood.

One of the more popular math courses was the Computer class. The students learned hands on training that would help them in the job world. The various assignments also gave them the opportunity to express their individual programs.

As a result of the wide interest in computers at A.H.S., the Computer Club was formed. Members toured the Police Computer Center and Anderson College learning about these machines. The club met monthly to discuss fund raising projects, such as Computer Club cards, Valentine cards, and computer dating, among other things.

Artists 'Brush Up' Decor

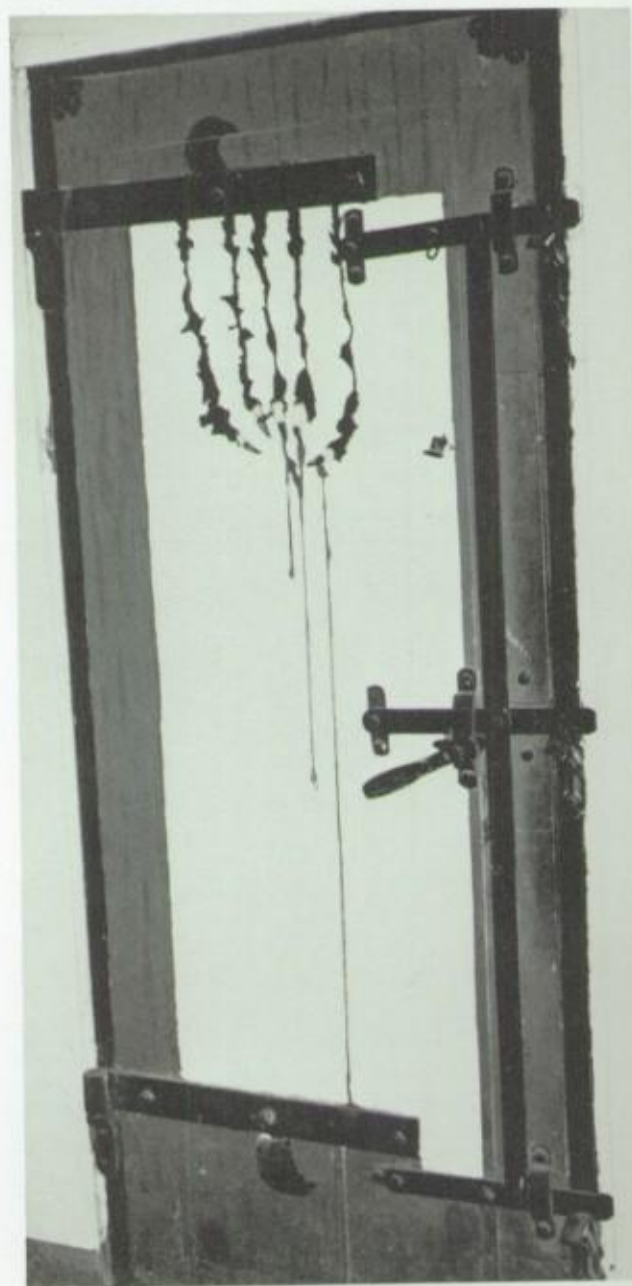

The many art classes offered at A.H.S. provided a variety of opportunities for students to develop their creative abilities. Decorating the Driver's Ed. hallway was a major project for the Advanced Art classes. Under the supervision of Mr. Jackson, colorful scenes from the "Bloom County" comic strip magically appeared on the blank walls. Unfortunately, these lively characters were stashed behind the new wood paneling. Students, undefeated, revived these paintings in other parts of the building.

Drawing and Design students perfected their skills through constant use. They were basically free to choose their subject matter on all of their drawings. The class taught them the use of a variety of drawing utensils, such as ink, paint, or sketching pencils. The students also learned of the career opportunities in the art world.

Advertising, interior design, and architecture were a few of the jobs where artists were in demand or they could become professional artists.

Indian Staff Does It For You

Advisor Mary Jo Williams found herself faced with an almost entirely new and inexperienced Indian staff at the onset of the year. With the help of the returning four staff members, everyone soon fell into the routine, hoping to achieve their goals for the year. "We try each year to produce a quality history and memory book for Anderson High students, faculty and staff," said Mrs. Williams.

One major project that dealt with the community was the annual ad blitz. Each staff member was given a quota of ads to sell to finance color and other special features to make the '86 Indian better than ever and affordable for all students.

In addition to ad sales, each staff member was responsible for getting good pictures, interviewing people for copy and caption information, writing copy and captions, drawing layouts. WHEW! What a job!

Tim Powers summed up the responsibilities of the yearbook staff by saying, "Although we do have fun sometimes we do have a lot of hard work to do. It's not half as easy as people think it is."

A Change For The Better

When an Indian said "We get our X-Rays today," he didn't mean he'd been to the doctor. Covering Anderson High School exclusively, the X-Ray, published tri-monthly, was on top of news, sports, editorials, and features.

With the change to a new tabloid form, and an excellent staff, the X-Ray proved to top even itself. The paper became even more specific than ever by adding new sections such as "Guess Who" and an opinion column. The other reason for the X-Ray's great success was what happened behind the scenes. The staff of nearly twenty-three, led by Editor-in-Chief Christi Hubble, met their deadlines by keeping to a strict schedule. "We had the best first issue that I've seen in the 35 years that I've been here," Advisor Lee Pursley expressed his impression of this productive year.

Two heads are better than one, but in this case, try three. Robin Borton, Melissa Hoffman, and Jennie Kelley collaborate their ideas.

What's this? A little rest and relaxation? No, Christi Hubble is just getting comfortable while her creative inspirations take over.

English Teaches Technique

Every student was required by law to have at least three years of English. To relieve the drudgery, our English Department prided itself on offering fun and creative classes, as well as the straight English courses.

From freshmen to senior, Basic to Honors, English taught the fundamentals of reading and writing. Grammar was stressed in freshmen English, but from then on literature was the topic of interest. Students were educated in American, English, and World Literature through the many stories, novels, and poems of prolific writers of the various ages.

To develop their writing abilities, many students chose to take such classes as Jr. and Sr. Composition and Creative Writing. There they learned and reviewed the vital skills necessary to write efficiently and effectively. Some delved even deeper into writing by studying the origin and formation of words in Etymology. These courses served to build creative abilities, better vocabularies, and a new comprehension of the English Language.

A Feast on French Culture

French was one of the more popular languages taught at A.H.S. It offered students the opportunity to study the French people and their culture, as well as their language. Several students even traveled to France during the summer to gain first-hand knowledge of the country. Jerlin Johantgen summarized the course by saying, "In French you learn so much more than a language; you learn an entire culture."

Mrs. Debbie Hodson and Mrs. Barbara Porter tried to make the language an interesting endeavor for those who chose to take it. As a reward for maintaining superior grades throughout the course, students were admitted to the French Honor Society. On the other hand, French Club integrated fun activities and excitement into the program for those who survived the dreaded initiation. The members dined annually at La Tours where they sampled some of the famous French cuisine. The traditional Christmas party was another favorite activity. These activities helped to enrich the learning experience of the French students.

Don't Siesta . . . Fiesta!

Following the lead of their teachers Mrs. Martha Wilson and Mrs. Debbie Voorhis, these students studying the United States' "second language" were busy, busy, busy throughout the year. Starting with the ever-famous Spanish Club initiation which every club member must go through eventually.

Club members then moved on to the Christmas season where they celebrated with a Christmas party featuring tacos, music, piñata breaking, and the food donation for the needy. In addition, the fourth year students presented a play representing the tradition of Los Pasados in Mexico and made food from Hispanic recipes.

New this year was the selling of t-shirts. To promote these, several students posed as live manequins during their lunch hours.

Rounding out the year was the club's Spring Banquet annually held at Chi-Chi's. For Spanish Club, this year definitely was not a siesta.

In her 20th year at AHS, Mrs. Martha Wilson guides first year Spanish students through everything from uno to diez.

Latin Attracts The Elite

Under the direction of first-year Latin teacher Sandra Lowry, Latin students strove to resurrect the so-called "dead" language. Latin broadened their awareness of the ancient Roman and Greek societies and gave them a foundation for understanding the English Language and the Romance Languages. This class enhanced the verbal abilities of the "elite" students who chose to take it.

Meanwhile, Latin Club gave them a chance to enhance their selling abilities with button and Life-Saver Lolli-pop sales. The proceeds went to pay for the annual pizza parties. Raising over $400 on sucker sales alone, you can bet there was plenty of pizza to go around. The club also sponsored a float in the Homecoming Parade and Toga Day. Both the class, and the club offered a fun way to earn invaluable rewards.

German Club Spreads Wings

German Club, busy with its numberable activities throughout the year, attacked the job of the sponsorship of GAPP. (German American Partners Program). This program allowed German exchange students to spend time in Anderson and for Anderson High students to spend one month in Germany. Fundraisers were planned for GAPP including a car wash and candy sales.

GAPP wasn't German Clubs only venture by far. Starting off with an initiation and Halloween party, they led on to a Christmas party, spring get-togethers and of course, fundraisers.

In addition to all German Club's activities, the German classes carried their equally interesting torches. Studying a foreign language meant learning about different cultures and lifestyles. Besides learning to speak German, students gained a greater understanding of the language, culture, and lifestyle.

Sophomore Jeff Schweitzer seeks the expertise of Herr B., otherwise known as Mr. Benkeser, in hopes of comprehending his second-year German class more adequately.

Hoosiers Study "Historia"

The Anderson High School social studies club took many entertaining and educational trips around Indiana and the mid-west. The club activities ranged from a Christmas party at the Gruenwald Home to a trip to Chicago, Illinois for the end of the year banquet. Club members had chances to visit various museums such as the Anderson College Bible museum, Museum of Art in Indianapolis, and a visit to the Railroad Museum.

The Social Studies club was led by Katie Wantz — president, Jennifer Laullin — vice president, Angie Elliot — secretary and Frank Owens — treasurer. The Social Studies club was designed to educate members along with showing them a good time. Mrs. Nicholson, Mr. Vermillion, and the club officers got together to provide members with many field trips and parties.

Trips to court, learning states and capitals, and making maps and graphs were a few assignments social studies students took part in this year. A.H.S. offered many different Social Studies classes. World Civilization, Applied Economics, and three levels of government were a few examples of classes. Honors Government students got hands-on education in the many aspects of our government while Government A students learned the construction and many ways our government was run. Anderson's great variety of classes and activities prepared informed students to contribute to society.

Breaking The Monotony

At certain times every year, many weary sophomores could be seen trudging to class straight from the pool, while freshmen were told horror stories about the famous CPR dummies. This was all part of the wonderful world of Health and Physical Education at AHS.

Health classes instructed students in the basic fundamentals for a healthy existence, including hygiene, behavior, and first-aid. The teachers, Mr. Eads, Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Senseney, strove to make the classes interesting and fun for the students.

Physical Education classes provided a break from the books and an opportunity to have fun with friends. Some sophomores were reluctant to swim for six weeks, but once they hit the water, it proved to be an enjoyable experience. Meanwhile, up in the gym, the students enjoyed playing volleyball, wiffle ball, badminton, and the all time favorite, basketball. The vigorous workouts refreshed the students so they could carry on with their schoolwork.

By the end of the year, the underclassmen admitted having a great time in these two classes, and the upperclassmen missed the break in routine.

Open Road Toward Future

The Home Economics Department proved to be another bridge to the future for the Indians, boys and girls alike. Classes, taught by Mrs. Brandon and Miss Harrell included Child Development, Family Living, Consumer Management and, of course, the traditional classes of foods and clothing.

To add to the intense learning, a device new to the department this year was a video camera used for filming demonstrations such as child observations, for future reference. When asked, Mrs. Brandon, Department Head, mentioned that home economic classes prepared students for life in a way few other classes could.

The door to the Career Resource Center wasn't just a walk way to room one-hundred, but an opening to the future for many students here at Anderson High. With the help of Mrs. Debbie Wishard, Coordinator of the Center, students had access and were encouraged to explore materials concerning numerous colleges, vocational and technical schools, different jobs, and information on almost everyone's career interests.

Seniors enrolled in a program new to the Career Center had a special opportunity at the job market. Their names were given to an employment agency, listed on a computer and sent out to various businesses.

A Driving Development

Three days a week, Human Development students changed into shorts and sweats to hold court in the weight room. Rick Eads, the man responsible for starting this program four years ago, taught these juniors and seniors to be aware of their bodies and to care for them properly. After learning about the anatomy and muscles of the body, physical training and nutrition, these students could see a change in themselves, whether it was a loss of weight or an increase in strength. In addition to all the fun, and a little pain, these students grasped important information that they'll use for the rest of their lives.

Almost everyone has said at least once in their life, 'I can't wait until I'm sixteen, then I can drive.' As most teenagers' sixteenth birthdays rolled around, so did Driver's Education.

For one semester, students spent three days in the classroom studying the mental side of driving. They physically prepared for the road by driving along with a simulation film. Only after that did students attempt 'the real thing'. They were taught and tested over such skills as turning, backing up and everyone's favorite, parallel parking. Finally, these students, having wavers, were on their way to becoming adults.

Such unbelievable intensity, as Senior Mickey Clark demonstrates, is not unusual and often found in the weight room during Human Development classes.

Practice makes perfect! Charles Hobson brushes up on his skills behind the wheel with the help of a simulator in his Driver's Education Class.

Preparing For The Future

Both Industrial Education classes and the Industrial Cooperative Training program helped prepare students for their future careers. Drafting, Woods, Metals, and Plastics classes developed the individual's creative ability through many different projects, while Small Engine Repairs class learned the parts and maintenance involved in fixing those engines. Aerospace, a course which only was offered at AHS, devoted studying to aircrafts, rockets, and power systems.

ICT classes took learning one step further by moving it to the real world of on the job training. Students were given information on acquiring and holding a job and on its responsibilities. After half a day of school work, they shuffled out to their various jobs to learn and earn. Through the classroom portion of ICT, students were instructed with technical information which related to the occupation of the students. Some of what this study included was personal traits, management, of money and taxes and social security.

CO-OP Prepares For Future

The Cooperative Vocational Education Program (CO-OP) let students approach learning in a setting where they could mix with the elements in a job and the community.

Students interested in office-oriented jobs, such as secretaries, file clerks, stenographers, and accountants became involved in the Cooperative Office of Education (COE). Communications, human relations, business management, and orientation of office work and money were some of the subjects taught in the classroom.

Planning on-the-job training was just as important as the job itself. The Distributive Education Class (DECA) introduced students to skills needed in the field of marketing and distribution.

For those students who were set for the working world after graduation, or just uncertain of their employment future, Occupation Work Experience (OWE) was their answer. Students learned job skills, and the responsibility of having a job.

The Christmas Season proved to quite an event for both the Singers and Madrigals. Twenty-five concerts for the community were performed during Christmas including the annual madrigal dinner. The dinner was held at the Trinity Episcopal Church in an Old English setting complete with trumpeter fanfares and a boor's head.

The Singers and Madrigals rounded out the year with the Bishop Luer's contest, the Anderson High sponsored Encore '86 and a return trip to Nashville where both groups took second in the Show Choir Division.

Junior Robin Martin "struts her stuff" as she sings and dances during Singer's winning performance of "Hats."

Jazzin' It Up!

Choral Club, made up of around 60 talented singers, established "better singing habits with technical exercises," according to Choral Director Mr. Richard Seaver. For some, Choral Club was a training ground for the preparation of singers and Madrigals, but others were involved in all three.

School convos, "Encore '86", dancing, solos, skits and acts featured the Choral Club in their traditional green robes with red trim.

Choralettes were Anderson High's exclusive all-girl choir. They, like Choral Club, performed many school and non-school functions.

During class, Choral Clubs' and Choralettes' main objectives were to improve their singing, and master music theory which involved the reading of music. Auditions and voice tests also made up a big part of Choral Club's year. Whether for Choral Club or Choralettes, the Auditorium hall was alive with the sound of music.

Under the expert direction of director Mr. Seaver, members of Singers Unlimited "warm up" their voices and have a little fun before performing.

Dawn Collins.

Lisa Balser, Lisa Hardacre, and Becky Yust help spice up a number performed by the Choral Club during the Christmas season.

Director Rick Seaver guides the Choral Club through numerous practices and performances throughout the year.

Thespians . . . Lights, Camera, Action!

736? These numbers may not mean much to the common person, yet to Thespian Troupe, 736, they mean a great deal.

Sponsor Mrs. Adkins, along with President Jennifer Luallin, Vice President Katie Wantz, Secretary Karen Cox, and Treasurer Angie Flatford, taught new members appreciation for the theater and performing arts.

Individuals obtained membership by performance. The audition performance took place in front of Mrs. Adkins and Thespian officers. Members came from any grade level. After performance, selection was made from ratings from officers and the sponsor.

The club kept organized by holding meetings and rehearsals in the auditorium after school. Mrs. Adkins responded to the value of the Thespian experience, by saying "Participation in the theater is an excellent way to gain insights into one's own life. The opportunity to know students on a different level is one of the best aspects of being Thespian sponsor. One can watch them develop through their high school career in their talents, poise, and responsibility."

Kathy Moffett, Amy Jones and Heidi Freer run through their lines one last time before auditioning for the play festival.

The Importance of Being Earnest called for command performance by Rob Knuckles and Brian Hastings in the Thespians' first play of the year.

THESPIANS — ROW 1: Bonita Reed, Paria Shell, Christi Darst, Sheri Smith, Vojtella Bass, Marsa Young, Heidi Carter, Michelle Kinder, Jolene Robison, Scott Bryan. ROW 2: Susan Briles, Heidi Freer, Robin Martin, Karen Cox (Secretary), Angi Flarford (Treasurer), Karie Wantz (V.P.), Jeni Luallin (President), Maxine Adkins (Sponsor), Christine Stoll, Holly Myers, Joan Bybee, Aaron McCord. ROW 3: Mandy Slick, Kristi Cox, Deanna Nicely, Kim Cochran, Camille Ducan, Gwen Thurman, Julie Nelson, Krista Youngblood, Jenny Kelly, Pat McKinney, Amy Kelly, Lisa Hardacre, Deb Fish. ROW 4: Anige Elliot, Patty Ashton, Peggie Miller, Jennifer Judd, Tiffany Merrill, Kathy Moffett, Karie Farris, Rhonda Auker. BACK ROW: Brian Hastings, Jeff Gregory, Mike Hadley, Dave Ehle, Alan Jones, Scott Vermillion, Rob Knuckles, Kely DeGraffenreid, Phil Dorsey, Todd McCord, Pete Soerenga.

Mrs. Maxine Adkins, just before beginning auditions from her thespian troupe 736, pauses to reflect on the characters needed for the play.

"Gimme a break!" That may not be Mark Reagan's line, but Rob Pensac checks the script just to be sure there weren't any changes.

Just A Little Hanky Panky

Made of musicians, Indianettes, and colour guard the Anderson Band was the most active club at AHS. Marching season began on July first, and during this time, the Indians competed in the Winchester Old Timers' Fair, the Jay Country Fair, Bands on Parade at Athletic Park, and the Indiana State Fair Band Day Competition where they took home the first place trophy.

The major time consumers weren't the contests themselves, but the practices. Whether rain or shine, the Marching Indians could be found six to seven hours a day perfecting their show that consisted of Ceremonial War Dance, Indian Love Call, South Rampart, Old Black Magic, Witchcraft, The Lady is a Tramp, Sweet Georgia Brown, and the exit, Toro Loca.

The summer wasn't all work and no fun. A good example of this was band camp where the Indians picked up the art of "Hanky Panky" (a new type of marching style).

On the night of November 27th the Indians left for Detroit, Michigan, to march in the Detroit Thanksgiving Day Parade. They toured Detroit and Windsor, Canada, and visited the Ford Museum and the Renaissance Centre.

To pay for all these activities the Indians became involved in many fundraisers. Included were car washes, the Ice cream social, a dunk tank, a can drive, a chicken barbeque, a chili supper, and the selling of magazines, cheese and sausage, M & M's, and raffle tickets.

In addition to all this the band performed at the traditional football and basketball games, not to mention pep sessions. Band members found out that being in band meant more than giving just their time but a piece of themselves as well.

Is Mr. Deal actually smiling, someone asks as he sets down his megaphone and lets down his guard during one of those few, short breaks at band camp.

While everyone else is still dragging themselves out of their bunks, Heidi Carter is up with the sun and ready to work at band camp.

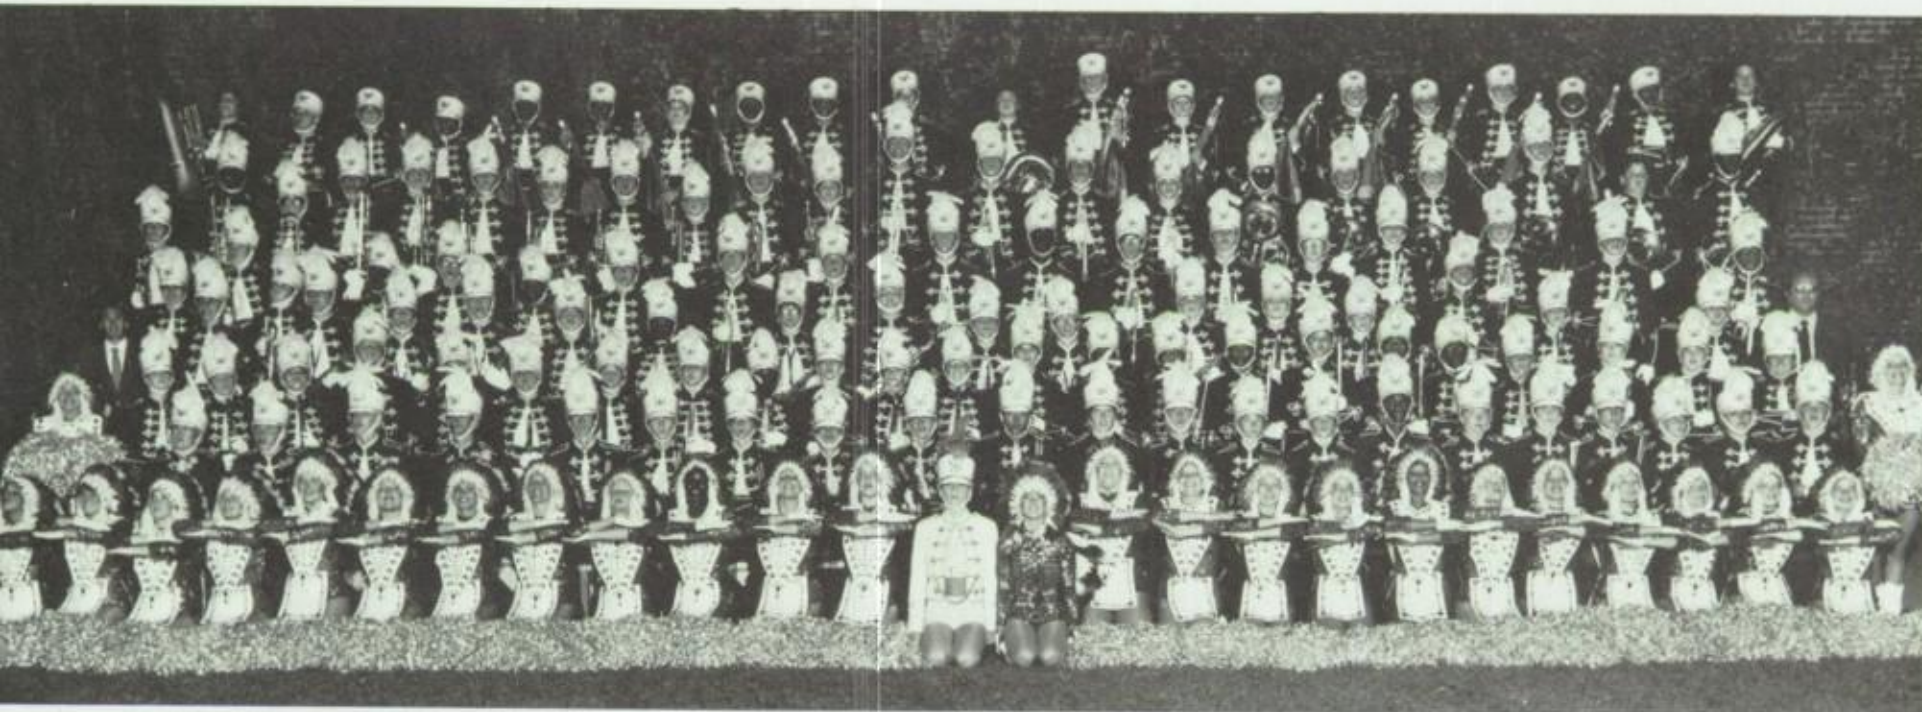

Nikki Reasoner practices for the half-time show at the home basketball games during her 4th period class.

MARCHING INDIANS — Front Row: Chantrel Needler, Lisa Robb, Kelly Boze, Amy Behrens, J.J. Warner, Angie Elliot, Lisa Dalser, Marsha McFadden, Stephanie Murray, Adrienne White, Beth Dailey, Lisa Helton, Cynthia Spencer — Drum Major: Lori Bodkins — Lead Indianer: Michele Ebbert, Angie Logan, Tiffany Merrill, Ruth Carmin, Tracy Roberson, Kristi Santerson, Rachel Hexamer, Katherine Gaither, Tara Fenwick, Beth Carrel, Michelle Kase. Row 2: Christi Hubble, Bill Plummer, Todd Layron, David Perry, Burch Plummer, Eric Daughheree, Tim Tappan, Clint Alcum, Monry Kares, Jamie Daughheree, Jeffrey Morgan, Drew Carrel, Shawn Gibson, Holly Myers, Penny Sloan, Charles Hobson, Beth Moberly, Stacy Adakas, Marion Fowler, Christine Sroll, Angi Mullins,

Bill "Weebil" Plummer gets into his act as he bangs away on his base drum to what the drumline refers to as "box lunch".

The last morning at camp, a week and a half before State Fair, the exit comes together only after hours of practice.

With great pride Band Captain Jeff Lane holds up the Anderson Indians' first place 1985 State Fair trophy for all to see.

Head Indianette Lori Bodkins struts her stuff down the State Fair track leading the Marching Indians in Ceremonial War Dance.

The City of Anderson honors the 1985 State Fair Champions with a billboard facing north on the corner of Broadway and Grand.

Band parent Lou Ma wishes junior Cheryl Phillips good luck before she leaves for the morning show at State Fair.

Don Hoffmann and Bill Deal pose by the State Fair trophy and a plaque commemorating the Anderson Band's winning performance.

"We Won State Fair!"

"Band, are you ready?"

"Yes Sir" "One, two, three, four, "Ugh!" "Nooo," a little man atop an Anderson Marching Indians trailer screams through a megaphone. Horns, flags, and pomps silently return to position, and get ready for the horn snap yet again.

Scenes like these continued throughout the summer for whatever the band was working on, whether it was the fanfare at the beginning of the entrance or the salute at the end of the exit. With this determination, by the time State Fair rolled around the Marching Indians were prepared to win.

Early August 20th, before the sun was up, the Indians loaded onto buses bound for the State Fairgrounds. The first band to arrive, they started warming up for the morning show with calisthenics. After marching, the Indians retired to a nearby church where they ate lunch, rested for the afternoon and ran through the show several times on the church parking lot before leaving for the fairgrounds to march the night show.

After putting forth a valiant effort in the night show, the Indians impatiently waited for the verdict at the reading of the results. Through announcements of fourteen bands they stood holding onto each other for dear life until the Marching Patriots were awarded second place and the Indians knew they were in. Victory had never been so sweet or so well-deserved.

What lungs! Senior Sean Swanson takes a deep breath and gives it all he's got for that great low brass sound.

"I just can't believe it!" Marsha McFadden cries happily on a friend's shoulder after Anderson is announced State Fair champs.

Sophomore Rob Wehner, like many of the Marching Indians, is definitely not shy about telling everyone which band is number one.

"I'm so nervous!" Well, it sure doesn't show on Katherine Gaither as she holds her head high and prepares to march.

John Wooten takes his time as he mixes his chemicals, measuring them perfectly, in his Chemistry laboratory.

David Jones tries to get a little closer to his experiment in his Chemistry lab to test the reaction of different chemical elements being mixed.

Science Enriches Minds

At the beginning of the school year, Anderson High students set out to find exactly how things worked, from living organisms to the anatomy of a pig. Classes offered at A.H.S. ranged from Biology to Physics and Chemistry.

Biology, required for freshmen, taught about the scientific wonders of plants and animals and the way they thrive and survive. Different "bio" assignments included the chapter review questions, labs, and making fossils.

Chemistry students took part in many different labs. Mrs. Carrico's class made candy in their Christmas labs, and built simple molecules with molecular "rinker toys", just to name a few. Other classes such as Zoology had labs bisecting frogs, sharks and squids. They studied the organs and the arrangement inside these animals. By the end of the school year science students learned many beneficial examples of organisms and how they worked.

Mr. Smith gives his Physics class an example of how a wheel rolls downward and upward on a slope. Students learn the laws of gravity and force on the wheel by Mr. Smith's experiment.

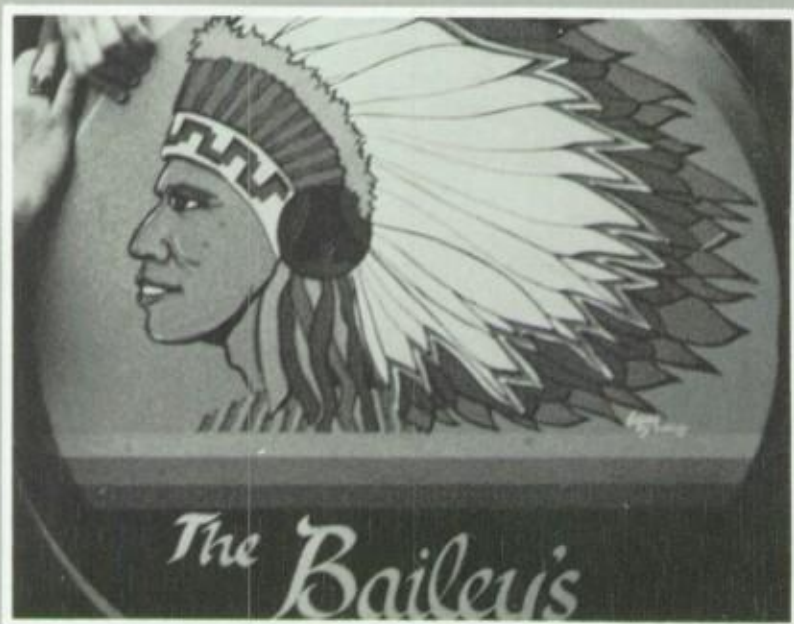

Jeff Allen and Karen Poole mix their chemicals together in their lab experiment trying to perfect the mixture to be graded.

Kevin Nave and Jeff Lane put their expertise together as they hurry anxiously to finish their Chemistry experiment before the bell rings.

The Quitter

When you're lost in the Wild, and you're scared as a child,
And Death looks you bang in the eye,
And you're sore as a boll, it's according to Hoyle
To cock your revolver and . . . die.
But the Code of a Man says: "Fight all you can,"
And self-dissolution is barred.
In hunger and woe, oh, it's easy to blow . . .
It's the hell-served-for-breakfast that's hard.

"You're sick of the game!" Well, now, that's a shame.
You're young and you're brave and you're bright.
"You've had a row deal!" I know — but don't squeal,
Buck up, do your damndest, and fight.
It's the plugging away that will win you the day,

So don't be a pilker, old pard!
Just draw on your grit; it's so easy to quit.
It's the keeping your chin up that's hard.

It's easy to cry that you're bearen — and die;
It's easy to crawfish and crawl;
But to fight and to fight when hope's out of sight —
Why, that's the best game of them all!

And though you come out of each gruelling bout,
All broken and beaten and scarred,
Just have one more try — it's dead easy to die,
It's the keeping-on-living that's hard.

THE QUITTER

by

Robert William Service (1874-1958)

This poem was written in a one room cabin in The Yukon Territory in the early 1900's. Fifty below zero cold, hungry wolves and huge bears were common dangers.

Today's challenges are different, but the lesson is the same: You can't succeed at anything if you quit!

These thoughts from

JUDGE FREDRICK R. SPENCER, A.H.S. CLASS OF '56.

Agony claws my mind.
For the first time in my "life", I'm alone,
trapped within a world of eternal silence,
yet, sensing no end to my soul's inner turmoil.

Their mangled figures quietly passed me by with an air of indifference, showing no empathy for my situation.

Their bleary eyes fixed upon some unseen presence.

Strange that they aren't screaming in agony considering their person's condition.

It is then that I notice my own appearance;
My body badly deformed as a result of that final drink and my ignorance.

I can still hear myself saying
"Just one more for the road"
"One final drink won't do any harm"
Despite my friends' concerned warnings
I finished that damned drink and climbed behind the wheel of my car for the last time.

By the time I finally saw
The romantic silhouette of the tree obstructing my path,

It was too late
There was a deafening crash and I heard myself scream.
Suddenly, I awakened to an extraordinary silence
A police officer was standing over me
While the doctor carefully pulled a sheet
Over my mutilated body.

A Thought For Seniors

From K. Starkey

Whatever you can do,
Or dream you can do,
Do it.

Boldness had genius,
Power and magic in it.

Jostens Printing and Publishing Division of Clarksville, Tennessee printed 1,200 copies of the 1986 Indian. Kim Ash, local representative, and Chrys Brummel, in-plant consultant, aided in the publication process of the 208 page book.

Although most of the copy was written in 11pt. Serif Gothic, the opening copy was written in 14pt. bold Serif Gothic. Captions were written in 9pt. Serif Gothic. Sports special copy was written in 8pt. Serif Gothic.

Division copy was written in 14pt. Serif Gothic. The features throughout the junior section were 12pt. Serif Gothic. The features throughout the sophomore section had various pt. sizes.

Folios were a combination of 8pt. lower case, and 14pt. bold. All copy was three column, except for sports, which was four.

The staff used several headline styles. Student Life used 42pt. Sentence Style Serif Gothic and 60pt. Lydian Cursive. Sports used 42pt. Serif Gothic with 14pt. Serif Gothic kickers. People used a variety of types & sizes headlines. Clubs and Classes used 36pt. Italic Serif Gothic headlines. Advertising headlines varied according to individual ads & their sizes.

The book was printed in 80lb. gloss paper. Silver ink and silver foil were applied to the deep red laquered cover.

Special Thanks To:

Mary Jo Williams for making the out of school time we spent correcting spreads fun and for the munchies, which kept me (Lisa) going!

Kim Ash, our Jostens representative, who was an extreme help and who also bailed us out of trouble. Life Touch Photographers and Steve Paul, sales representative.

The Anderson Herald and Bulletin for the use of their pictures, especially for the pictures on pages 110 and 111.

AN ENORMOUS THANKS TO:

Stacy Takacs for writing all the extra heaps of copy piled on her! Thanx Strac!!

Paul Figge for getting the layouts done then helping the rest of us with whatever we asked.

Amy Miller for getting done the stacks of things we piled on her desk and even if it meant taking them home.

Missy Clark for pitching in and doing all the jobs nobody else would do.

All my teachers who didn't say anything to me when I was doing yearbook work instead of classwork I was supposed to be doing! (and for letting me out of class to work on the deadlines.)

le. Thank god, I wish you lots of luck this summer. If you get any pussy, it's for me. I know if I do, and I will as long as I have Hendy, I'll be a little extra for you. Stay cool, not sober,

I think that we have gotten to the point where we can trust each other with stories about drugs and parties etc. The fact that at the beginning of the year we didn't "shoot the shit" with each other very much, but now we can.
You know that when ever you have any extra substances that you want to share, you can give me a call. and we'll go out & get high.
